Ohio Lame Duck Solons To Eye Appointments

More than 100 Names To Be Submitted by Governor on Monday

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Majority democrats in the Ohio Senate expect to confirm more than a hundred appointments by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle before Republicans take control of the legislature five weeks hence.

The governor said 108 appointments, made since adjournment of the regular session in mid-1959, together with a batch of new ones will go to the Senate for action in the special session convening Monday.

The appointments include four department heads, a utility commissioner, two Liquor Board members and the new five-member Pardon and Parole Board and Racing Commission. Many of the others are routine selections for boards and commissions without salary or controversy.

Some Republicans criticized new departments created by the regular session but they will be out-numbered and unable to block director appointments if Democrats stick together in the lame duck session.

Statute requires the governor to make new appointments if the Senate fails to approve his selections.

Democrats lost their Senate and House majorities in the November election, but Republicans cannot take control until the next regular session meets Jan. 2.

DiSalle called a special session of the Democrat-controlled legislature to deal only with mounting Ohio unemployment. But he expects confirmation of his appointees as an extra dividend.

Most controversial appointments are those to head the new Department of Personnel, with its board of review and the Department of Industrial and Economic Development. Most directors serve at the governor's pleasure.

Koder M. Collison, formerly with the Dayton Area Chamber of Commerce, drew the most Republican fire after his selection as industrial and economic development director at $15,000 a year.

James T. Welsh, former mayor of Steubenville, was named to head the new Department of Personnel, which supervises state employees, at $14,000 annually. He came to the post from the highway department after serving as municipal manager of Teaneck, N.J.

The three-member Personnel Board of Review, which supplanted the two-man state Civil Service Commission, is composed of Carl Smith, Kenton, former commis-

Lake Draining Starts; Hargus Flows Again

Hargus Creek, an almost "dry-run" since the construction of Hargus Memorial Lake, is once again flowing freely.

The reason behind the sudden irrigation of the creek bed is that Hargus Memorial Lake is being drained to a six-foot level. Many tree tops and shrubs that failed to be removed when the lake was filled have been causing sportsmen using the lake considerable trouble.

Therefore the lake is being drained to a low level in order to remove the tree trunks and other debris causing the loss of fishing tackle and the like.

Fred Miller, caretaker of the lake and park, said after the water drained to a six-foot level, workers would still have to wait until the lake freezes. Removal of trees cannot be taken care of from the bank, therefore they must wait for a good freeze before work can be started, he said.

Ed Wallace, State Representative, said today he was glad to see the work get underway, but it was unfortunate it couldn't have been completed sooner. Wallace has been a key figure for getting the work started at the park.

TALK ABOUT A BROTHER — With a Secret Service man close by (right), President-elect John F. Kennedy takes daughter, Caroline, for a stroll, near their Georgetown home. Kennedy devoted as much attention as possible to Caroline as he began to lead her gently into a discussion of her new brother, John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr.

Proud Pappy Kennedy Makes Several Visits to Wife, Son

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy was a delighted father taking quick commuter trips today between his home and nearby Georgetown University Hospital to see his wife and new baby. He was up early for a 10 a. m. call after four brief visits Friday in which he pronounced "Everything's turning out in good shape—Mother and son doing fine." The baby, expected to arrive in mid-December, was born early Friday. The congratulations continued to flow in with a personal message from President and Mrs. Eisenhower heading the list.

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in warm congratulations to you and Mrs. Kennedy on the birth of your son. We add also our good wishes to your little daughter on her approaching third birthday," the Eisenhower message said.

The Kennedy clan, from father to grandfather to great-grandmother, was delighted. Kennedy's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, former ambassador to England, welcomed his 18th grandchild. And "delighted" was just the word from Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald, 95, the president-elect's grandmother, for her 30th great-grandchild.

The object of all the excitement, baby John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr., described by his doctor as "a very good looking — a very healthy youngster" with a lusty cry, remained in a nursery incubator.

There was a chance his mother, Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy, 31, might get to see him for the first time today.

The baby is expected to stay in the incubator another day and a half according to what physicians describe as routine hospital procedure with premature births.

Mrs. Kennedy is scheduled to stay in the hospital 10 or 20 days. She has been reported doing excellently and resting comfortably after the caesarean section. She has had intravenous nourishment and a transfusion of two pints of blood.

Her husband, after hectic turnaround flight from Palm Beach, Fla., because of the unexpectedly early birth, finally got a good night's sleep.

He spent 45 minutes in the hospital—his fourth trip there—before going to bed shortly before 9:30 p. m.

Priest, Girl Found in Arizona Motel

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A nationwide search for a Wisconsin hospital chaplain and a girl he is accused of abducting ended Friday in a shabby, two-room motel cabin in Phoenix.

The Rev. Lawrence Dudink, 47, a Roman Catholic priest with a history of mental illness, and Rosalie Anne O'Connell, 17, were picked up after an FBI agent spotted the chaplain's car.

Authorities said the two, missing since Nov. 8, had been in Phoenix for about two weeks. The girl, a high school junior from Gilbert, Minn., refused to discuss her disappearance.

Father Dudink, chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital in Superior, is charged with kidnapping the girl "by deceit." She had been undergoing treatment for a nervous disorder at the hospital.

Edward Boyle, FBI agent, said the couple apparently stayed close to the small, out-of-the-way motel. He said the chaplain told him he was low on money and planned to seek employment.

"The priest cashed a check in Flagstaff on the 15th," Boyle said, "and that put him in Arizona. We had been spot-checking motels in Phoenix for several days."

Father Dudink was arraigned before a U. S. commissioner on a charge of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution and jailed in lieu of $5,000 bond. The girl was placed in the custody of juvenile authorities.

Major Dispute in Congo Settled with New Accord

Holiday Traffic Toll Still Mounts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The final 48 hours of the long Thanksgiving weekend started Saturday, and with it began the perilous homeward rush of holiday traffic—the usual signal for mass slaughter on Ohio's highways.

So far, at least 11 persons have been killed in Ohio traffic accidents since the holiday period began at 6 p. m. Wednesday. The Associated Press continues its tabulation of deaths through midnight Sunday.

During the first 54 hours, ending midnight Friday, the state's traffic toll rate averaged out to one death a little more than every five hours.

This was encouraging in comparison with a similar but non-holiday 102-hour period two weeks ago. Ohio's highway fatality rate then was one death every four hours.

Total deaths on the national scene have topped the 300-mark. Of the total, 208 have died in traffic, 35 in fires and 60 in miscellaneous accidents.

But it's the last 48 hours of Saturday-Sunday driving that will tell the tale. In a normal non-holiday weekend in Ohio, usually between 12 and 15 persons die in road smashups between 6 p. m. Friday and midnight Sunday.

The first multiple fatality traffic accident of the holiday period was reported Friday afternoon. A car crashed into a motor scooter that pulled onto a state highway from a Morrow County road. Two boys on the scooter—one 15 and the other his 6-year-old nephew—were killed.

Besides the highway fatalities, the state has counted two fire deaths and two victims of miscellaneous accidents.

Laos Slated To Receive Soviet Goods

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Soviet Charge d'Affaires Anatoly Ratanov said today the first shipment of Soviet aid to Laos should reach Vientiane by air sometime next week.

Ratanov declined to disclose the cargo but Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Wednesday the first shipment would be gasoline. Other petroleum products and milk, sugar and flour will follow, he said.

A Laotian government source said today Laos had lodged a formal protest with Thailand over that country's blockade of this divided kingdom.

The Thai blockade is throttling the economy of Vientiane and other areas under the control of Souvanna's neutralist government. Rice and gasoline are rationed, prices are skyrocketing and shortage of medicines, manufactured products, milk and other foodstuffs has in some cases reached critical proportions.

The U. S. assistance program to Laos averages more than $40 million annually but the bulk of it is in military supplies and funds for the Laotian armies and government.

Nuclear Fire Brigade Urged

New Unit Needed, West Leaders Claim

PARIS (AP)—Parliamentarians from 15 North Atlantic Treaty countries today recommended the formation of a military fire brigade—with nuclear weapons at its disposal—to meet any type of Communist threats to the alliance.

The lawmakers unanimously approved the idea originally put forward by Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied military commander in Europe.

They also asked that NATO be granted political control of atomic arms and delivery systems. At present, practical control of such weapons in the alliance rests with the United States.

The resolutions passed at the closing session of the annual conference of NATO parliamentarians carry only advisory weight. They will be sent to the NATO Council for official consideration.

The proposed fire brigade would not necessarily have its own nuclear weapons, although this had been one part of the resolution when it was first debated. The final resolution simply said that the brigade "must be in a position to use" nuclear weapons.

The parliamentarians avoided any mention of NATO as a "fourth atomic power." Their resolution on the eventual control of atomic weapons simply urged the NATO Council to establish its own "political authority" over nuclear delivery systems and their use.

At present, Gen. Norstad needs permission from the White House before employing atomic devices, although he is pledged to consult the NATO Council if there is time.

Giving NATO political authority over the use of these weapons appeared to men in the future the supreme commander also would have to seek the permission of the 14 other NATO countries before dipping into his nuclear arsenal.

Texas Confirms Kennedy Victory

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—An official canvass by the Texas election board Friday confirmed that Democrat John F. Kennedy won the state's 24 electoral votes in the general election.

The board also rejected demands of Republican electors for a recount. Secretary of State Zollicoffer, the board's presiding officer, said the State Supreme Court has held the board can not "go behind the returns and ascertain the qualifications of the voters or otherwise inquire into" the election.

The board certified that Kennedy received 1,167,932 votes; Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican candidate, 1,121,699.

Wealthy Sportsman Freed As Kidnapers Get $200,000

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — A wealthy sportsman held 24 hours by kidnapers was reportedly under guard today as authorities sought a convicted murderer they said helped kidnap him.

Anthony Alessio, 41, was released unharmed after $200,000 ransom was paid his kidnapers. Alessio's family had been warned he would be killed if police were called.

FBI agents arrested a man and two women as Alessio's kidnapers and said a fourth man is still being sought.

Agents recovered $77,500 of the $200,000 ransom paid for the release of Alessio who with his six brothers operates the Caliente Race Track at Tijuana, Mexico. Ninety minutes after an unidentified man collected the ransom—one of the highest ever paid in the United States—the 210-pound Alessio was discovered handcuffed but unharmed in a San Diego motel.

Word of the kidnaping Tuesday night was kept quiet by the FBI and San Diego police until Friday night, at first to protect the victim and then to prevent tipping their hand to the abductors. Alessio was freed late Wednesday night.

Those arrested in Los Angeles soon afterward were Robert James Gorman, 29, an escapee from the men's prison at Chino, Calif., where he was serving five years to life for robbery; his wife, Ruby Elaine, 30; and Selma Clark Marrone, 25, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Marrone's husband, Frank, 31, a former bartender free on bond pending appeal of a conviction for second-degree murder in Alaska, is being sought.

The women wept as they were booked on suspicion of kidnaping, a state offense which carries a possible penalty of life imprisonment without possibility of parole. Bail of the trio was set at $200,000 each.

Alessio was reported back at his San Diego home under guard San Diego police refused to discuss the matter, however.

Authorities gave this timetable: Two armed men accosted Alessio at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday as he drove into the shrubbery-shrouded driveway of his luxurious home in a fashionable section of San Diego. They slapped handcuffs and a blindfold on him and

Restless Tomcat Told To Stay Home

ALAMEDA, Calif. (AP) — Herman, 14 pounds of restless tomcat was under court order today to stop courting the Siamese next door.

"Guess I'll have to keep the poor boy locked up," said Mrs. Russell H. Bowler after Superior Court Judge Ralph E. Hoyt issued a temporary injunction Friday.

The Siamese owners, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cook, want the injunction made permanent along with an award of $4,000 in damages. For the present, yellow-striped Herman is certain not to be a trespasser. He is in a pet hospital, the victim of a mysterious mauling.

Rich Katanga Province To End Secession

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—One of the most troublesome feuds of the feud-ridden Congo—the secession of mineral-rich Katanga Province—may be on the way to a solution.

A dramatic announcement from Elisabethville in Katanga Friday night said three leading ministers from the central government in Leopoldville had reached an agreement with Moise Tshombe, president of the breakaway province.

A communique said a two-hour meeting was held in a cordial atmosphere and resulted in a "perfect identity of views" on a program of action in the "internal affairs of the former Belgian Congo."

As a result, said one of the Katanga participants in the meeting, a round-table conference on the future political structure of the Congo probably will be held in Elisabethville next month.

Tshombe set up Katanga as an independent state with his capital at Elisabethville 11 days after the Congo got its independence from Belgium on June 30. He took the action, he said, because Patrice Lumumba, then the Congo premier, was using disruptive Communist tactics to create disorder throughout the new country.

Katanga, with its riches of uranium, copper and other minerals, is the economic backbone of the Congo and is the center of operations of a giant Belgian mining combine.

One of Tshombe's quarrels with Lumumba was the Katanga leader's insistence upon a form of decentralized federal government which he said would be suited to the Congo's localized tribal structure. Lumumba favored a strong central government.

Congo President Joseph Kasavubu has sided with Tshombe regarding a decentralized federal government structure.

Differences between Kasavubu and Lumumba have reached into the inner workings of the United Nations organization, splitting the African states.

The dispute has been simmering for weeks in closed door meetings of the African group. It boiled over early this week when the assembly neared the vote which won Kasavubu the Congo's empty U.N. seat.

Skin Grafts Fail To Save Texas Girl, 4

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Plucky Peggy Roller died Friday, 32 hours after the operation doctors hoped would help the 4-year-old girl survive critical burns.

Doctors at the Army's Brooke General Hospital agreed that the child's determination kept her alive nine days after an unexplained fire sent her screaming from her home, her dark hair ablaze. More than half of her body was burned.

Peggy's father, Maj. Harry Roller of El Paso, Tex., stood by her bed as her life ebbed away, then walked into the hall and said simply, "It's a rough world."

Three veteran sergeants, who each donated 128 square inches of skin applied to the burned areas on the girl's body in a two-hour Thanksgiving morning operation, were silent when told of her death.

Sgt. I.C. Earl D. Bieler, father of two children, finally spoke: "Well, we tried." M.Sgt. William M. Goodloe, father of three and Sgt. I.C. Harold S. Orff, father of five, nodded.

Goodloe, 45, of Earlington, Ky., Bieler, 26, of Machias, Maine, and Orff, 37, of Milo, Maine, volunteered for the operations because, Goodloe said "sometimes it might happen to one of us."

The sergeants will be hospitalized about two weeks, after which they will be given month-long convalescent leaves.

FBI agents arrested a man and two women as Alessio's kidnapers and said a fourth man is still being sought.

Agents recovered $77,500 of the $200,000 ransom paid for the release of Alessio who with his six brothers operates the Caliente Race Track at Tijuana, Mexico.

Ninety minutes after an unidentified man collected the ransom—one of the highest ever paid in the United States—the 210-pound Alessio was discovered handcuffed but unharmed in a San Diego motel.

Word of the kidnaping Tuesday night was kept quiet by the FBI and San Diego police until Friday night, at first to protect the victim and then to prevent tipping the hand to the abductors. Alessio was freed late Wednesday night.

Those arrested in Los Angeles soon afterward were Robert James Gorman, 29, an escapee from the men's prison at Chino, Calif., where he was serving five years to life for robbery; his wife, Ruby Elaine, 30; and Selma Clark Marrone, 25, of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Marrone's husband, Frank, 31, a former bartender free on bond pending appeal of a conviction for second-degree murder in Alaska, is being sought.

The women wept as they were booked on suspicion of kidnaping, a state offense which carries a possible penalty of life imprisonment without possibility of parole. Bail of the trio was set at $200,000 each.

Alessio was reported back at his San Diego home under guard. San Diego police refused to discuss the matter, however.

Authorities gave this timetable: Two armed men accosted Alessio at 5:30 p. m. Tuesday as he drove into the suburb-shrouded driveway of his luxurious home in a fashionable section of San Diego. They slapped handcuffs and a blindfold on him and

Rich Katanga Province To End Secession

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—One of the most troublesome feuds of the feud-ridden Congo—the secession of mineral-rich Katanga Province—may be on the way to a solution.

A dramatic announcement from Elisabethville in Katanga Friday night said three leading ministers from the central government in Leopoldville had reached an agreement with Moise Tshombe, president of the breakaway province.

A communique said a two-hour meeting was held in a cordial atmosphere and resulted in a "perfect identity of views" on a program of action in the "internal affairs of the former Belgian Congo."

As a result, said one of the Katanga participants in the meeting, a round-table conference on the future political structure of the Congo probably will be held in Elisabethville next month.

Tshombe set up Katanga as an independent state with his capital at Elisabethville 11 days after the Congo got its independence from Belgium on June 30. He took the action, he said, because Patrice Lumumba, then the Congo premier, was using disruptive Communist tactics to create disorder throughout the new country.

Katanga, with its riches of uranium, copper and other minerals, is the economic backbone of the Congo and is the center of operations of a giant Belgian mining combine.

One of Tshombe's quarrels with Lumumba was the Katanga leader's insistence upon a form of decentralized federal government which he said would be suited to the Congo's localized tribal structure. Lumumba favored a strong central government.

Congo President Joseph Kasavubu has sided with Tshombe regarding a decentralized federal government structure.

Differences between Kasavubu and Lumumba have reached into the inner workings of the United Nations organization, splitting the African states.

The dispute has been simmering for weeks in closed door meetings of the African group. It boiled over early this week when the assembly neared the vote which won Kasavubu the Congo's empty U.N. seat.

Charles Okala, outspoken foreign minister of the newly independent Cameroon accused Ghana of working with the Soviet Union to set up a Communist regime in the Congo.

Ghana Ambassador Alex Quaison-Sackey, considered by some a spokesman of the Africa "group," countered that Okala was acting in bad taste and was guilty of unparliamentary behavior.

African delegates became embroiled in another angry exchange in the political committee debating a Moroccan protest over Mauritania's accession to independence granted by France.

Fireworks erupted when the French-speaking new nations from Africa banded together against claims that Mauritania belongs to Morocco.

The new state of Upper Volta declared Morocco was having "pipe dreams" about extending its empire.

The United Arab Republic and other Arab countries in Africa countered that the colonialists were trying to carve up Mauritania.

In the Mauritania discussion, Ismael Toure, chief of the Guinea delegation, warned colleagues that any division of the African nations "is a weapon in the hands of our foes."

There already existed a danger of outside forces pitting African against African, he asserted.

Rowland Swiss Herd Takes High Production Honors

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Norman Rowland, Route 1, Orient, with a herd of 24 Brown Swiss cows, produced an average of 954 pounds of milk and 42 pounds of butterfat per cow to walk off with the high production honors during October for herds under the Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. record program.

The 40 cow mixed herd of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hines, Route 4, Circleville, was a close second with a record of 903 pounds of milk and 40 pounds of butterfat per cow.

Loring and Barbara Stoer, Route 1, Orient, ranked third in the DHIA program. Their herd of 24 mixed cows produced 721 pounds of milk and 33 pounds of butterfat per cow.

The high individual cow in the DHIA program belonged to David Glick, Route 3, Circleville. Glick's Bess cow produced 1920 pounds of milk and 77 pounds of butterfat for October. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hines' Beechie cow produced 1270 pounds of milk and 72 pounds of fat and Myrtle Hines, Ashville, owns the third high DHIA cow. She is Becky and she produced 1830 pounds of milk and 71 pounds of butterfat.

IN THE Owner Sampler record program, the 30 cow herd belonging to Yapple and Watt, Route 2, Circleville, was high with an average of 1044 pounds of milk and 38 pounds of butterfat.

The 24 cow Holstein herd of Carl Hunsinger, of Williamsport, had a record of 935 pounds of milk and 37 pounds of butterfat per cow; and the Walton Spangler herd of eight cows produced 923 pounds of milk and 37 pounds of butterfat per cow.

The high individual cow of the Owner Sampler program was cow No. 11 owned by Yapple and Watt. She produced 2230 pounds of milk and 78 pounds of butterfat. Carl Hunsinger's Blossom cow was second with 1580 pounds of milk and 74 pounds of butterfat, and Bernard Ball, Ashville, owner of cow

H-75 was third with 1240 pounds of milk and 62 pounds of butterfat.

The DHIA program is supervised by John Dixon and sampler program differs in that the owner collects the samples and weighs the milk. The butterfat analysis is run by Mr. Dixon for both systems of records.

Dairy farmers that desire to enroll in either program should contact Mr. Dixon or the County Agriculture Extension office.

Do you know that "what you eat today you are tomorrow?"

We like to think we're well fed in America. And we are, compared to many countries. But although abundant food is available, many teenagers need improved diets. This confirmed by much research on the nutritional status of teenagers.

Consistently it shows that: 1. The older the child, the poorer the percentage of young people with poor diets increases sharply. 2. The nutrients most commonly lacking in diets are calcium and vitamin C. 3. Vitamin A, thiamine, and riboflavin are more often lower in diets in some sections of the country than others. 4. Iron is often low in the diet of the teenage girl. 5. The teenage girl is the poorest fed member of the family.

Why is this teenage girl so poorly fed? A teenager feels her appearance is very important in having friends and being popular. Because of this she has a fear of getting fat. Fear of being fat is one of the greatest factors in poor nutrition, in both the teenage girl and her mother.

A TEENAGE girl requires one-third less calories than a boy of the same age or about 2,400-2,600 calories a day. Because a girl likes social eating, around 600 calories come for foods such as soft drinks, potato chips, etc. which do not contain much good nutritional value.

Many times teenagers, especially girls, skip breakfast. Her reason may be lack of time in the morning, not hungry, afraid of getting fat, rather sleep a few minutes longer, mother doesn't prepare breakfast, or she prefers to spend the time on her appearance.

Another thing, its surprising how many teenagers do not drink milk. Girls may think its childish or think milk will make her fat. Of those that do drink milk, many do not drink the amount that they should.

Although a girl may not be over weight, the present styles make her very weight conscious. She needs to understand nutrition so she can get a good diet and at the same time keep her calories down.

Snack time with teenagers is important to them. They do not need necessarily to be cut out. Snack on foods had have some good nutrients to go with the calories such as apples, oranges, celery, carrots, fruits, and vegetables of this type. Also, for the beverage, drink milk or a milk beverage. Teenagers should have 6 glasses of milk a day.

Breakfast is the most important meal of the day. Breakfast is what gives you that get up and go feeling that is needed in the morning. Without breakfast by mid morning you feel sluggish and depressed. Your body functions do not operate adequately to meet the body needs. Remember, if watching weight, its' better to distribute the calories well throughout the day the day than to get most of them after most of the day's activities are past.

ACTIVITY of the teenage boy or girl or anyone affects his or her weight. Calories are only one part of the weight control picture.

If you activities are greater than the calories, you lose weight; and if you take in more calories than you'll neither gain nor lose weight. This is important for a recreation program with teenagers.

Fruit Trees Need Spring Fertilizing

Apple trees may be fertilized in the fall as well as in early spring, according to Agent George Hamrick.

Peach, plum and cherry trees also may be fertilized in the fall, but spring is generally preferred, at least a month before bloom.

Nitrogen, in most cases, is the fertilizer element most frequently needed by fruit crops, Hamrick said. In many instances it is the only element that needs to be applied. For this reason, fertilizer recommendations are based upon the rate of nitrogen application.

In general, the fruits mentioned may be fertilized at the rate of 1/4 to 1-3 pounds of a 20 percent nitrogen fertilizer for each year of tree age. Three common nitrogen fertilizers are sulfate of ammonia, which carries 20 per cent nitrogen, ammonium nitrate (33 1/3 per cent nitrogen) and nitrate of soda (16 per cent nitrogen). If ammonium nitrate is used the rate would be somewhat less than for sulfate of ammonia.

HAMRICK said the rate for nitrate of soda would be a little higher. In no case should a tree receive more than 8 pounds of any nitrogen fertilizer, regardless of age. Usually a less amount will suffice.

Some soils may not supply enough other elements, especially potassium, for best tree performance. In these cases applying a mixed fertilizer, such as 12-12-12, 8-16-16 or 14-7-7 may be preferred. The rate would be from 1-3 to 1/2 pound of the fertilizer per year of tree age, with no tree receiving over 12 pounds per application.

Pear trees, because of their susceptibility to the fire blight disease must be fertilized less than other fruit trees. Ordinarily, a pear tree should not receive over half the amount of nitrogen given other fruits, sometimes even less.

Nitrogen promotes vigorous twig growth which is extremely susceptible to blight. Nitrate of soda is a better material to use on pears than is the ammonia forms of nitrogen.

For most efficient use, the fertilizer is spread evenly beneath the spread of the tree branches and slightly beyond.

G-Men Grab Photos of Mrs. Kennedy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secret Service agents yesterday confiscated a camera and destroyed a roll of film containing pictures of Mrs. John F. Kennedy being wheeled from the recovery room of Georgetown Hospital.

The pictures were made by AP photographer Thomas F. Freeman. He was the first photographer to reach the hospital after Mrs. Kennedy's arrival for birth of her son.

Upon arrival, he asked an attendant where Mrs. Kennedy's room was and he was directed to the fourth floor. There he took a position in an open-doored service room about 150 feet from the recovery room. While waiting he talked with several nurses and said one brought him a cup of tea.

When Mrs. Kennedy was wheeled from the recovery room, Freeman took three shots before the Secret Service intervened and sized his camera. It was returned after the film was removed.

Freeman was directed to work from the hospital lobby where he made pictures of the arrival of President-elect Kennedy.

FARM

Check Fertility Needs for 1961

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent, Agriculture

Corn plants have ways of letting the farmer know when they are hungry.

If the plants turn yellow or pale green in late summer, it's a sign they need nitrogen. At harvest time these plants may have ears that aren't filled to the tips.

If stalks are stunted and ears are irregularly shaped, they may have needed phosphorous. Weak stalks or chaffy ears many times indicate a shortage of potash.

When corn plants fail to receive the nutrients they need, their capacity to produce grain goes down. It's like a factory trying to set a production record by operating on a five hour a-day schedule.

MUCH of our 1960 corn crop is out of the field now, so farmers may reflect on what their yields might have been with or without an adequate fertility program. I suggest that farmers ask themselves two important questions when evaluating this year's corn fertility program.

First, did I use the correct

amounts of fertilizer and lime to get maximum yields and economic production; and second, did I complete the year with soil fertility level as high as when I started the year.

A shortage of nitrogen during the later part of the summer can cut potential corn yields from 10 to 20 percent. Agronomists normally recommend 80 to 100 pounds of supplemental nitrogen in addition to row fertilizer on corn that follows corn or other row crops. Corn following a grass or a poor mixture of clover - grass sod usually responds favorably to 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen. If corn follows a good legume sod grown under a favorably fertility program, supplemental nitrogen may not be necessary.

Weather conditions can influence the effect of nitrogen on a corn crop. This past year many farmers reported that normal applications of nitrogen did not seem to be enough. This was probably due to cool, unfavorable growing conditions early in the season. This cool weather slowed the rate at which nitrogen was released in the soil.

A yield of 100 bushels of corn, plus the stalks to produce it, contain about 160 pounds of nitrogen, 60 pounds phosphate, and 120 pounds of potash. Part of this can be supplied by the soil, but at least the farmer should put back into the soil as much phosphate and potash as he takes away in crops harvested. If stalks remain in the field, considerable amounts of potash and some nitrogen and phosphate are eventually returned to the soil.

Most effective way to determine fertility needs is by a good soil test. This test should be made now so that farmers will have a basis on which to plan their 1961 fertility program. The load on the soils laboratory is less now and the tests will be returned sooner.

The department also said that the discount variety program on flue-cured tobacco will continue in effect on the 1961 crop.

The new quota, converted to acres, makes 715,817 acres available for allotment in 1961. Acreage available for allotment this year totaled 715,110 acres.

Airplane-helicopter use is the most important advance in forest fire fighting in the last 50 years, says the Forest Service.

But "men, tools and teamwork will always be necessary" despite valuable aerial assists, it adds.

A new 32-page booklet issued by the Agriculture Department traces the use of aircraft in forest fire fighting back to 1919, when the locations of forest fires were first pinpointed from the air.

New overseas sales of wheat and grain sorghums have been authorized by the Agriculture Department.

An authorization issued to Israel provides for the purchase of an additional $188,319 worth of grain sorghums from American suppliers.

Iran was given permission to buy an additional $1,240,000 worth of wheat.

Do You Know

Farmers spend almost two-thirds as much for capital improvements as all manufacturers of durable good combined farmers invested an average of $4.1 billion annually from 1955 to 1958 in new equipment and construction. Manufacturers of durable goods, including steel, autos, appliances and machinery, spent $6.6 billion annually during the same period for these items.

Since the late 1930's the number of people on farms has declined by one-third and actual number of farms by one-fourth. Yet the goods and services bought by farmers cost more than $40 billion, or about 4 times the 1937 - 41 average.

Around 85 million acres formerly were used to produce horse and mule feed are now used to produce for human consumption.

FARM

Check Fertility Needs for 1961

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Corn plants have ways of letting the farmer know when they are hungry.

If the plants turn yellow or pale green in late summer, it's a sign they need nitrogen. At harvest time these plants may have ears that aren't filled to the tips.

If stalks are stunted and ears are irregularly shaped, they may have needed phosphorous. Weak stalks or chaffy ears many times indicate a shortage of potash.

When corn plants fail to receive the nutrients they need, their capacity to produce grain goes down. It's like a factory trying to set a production record by operating on a five hour a-day schedule.

MUCH of our 1960 corn crop is out of the field now, so farmers may reflect on what their yields might have been with or without an adequate fertility program. I suggest that farmers ask themselves two important questions when evaluating this year's corn fertility program.

First, did I use the correct

amounts of fertilizer and lime to get maximum yields and economic production; and second, did I complete the year with soil fertility level as high as when I started the year.

A shortage of nitrogen during the later part of the summer can cut potential corn yields from 10 to 20 percent. Agronomists normally recommend 80 to 100 pounds of supplemental nitrogen in addition to row fertilizer on corn that follows corn or other row crops. Corn following a grass or a poor mixture of clover - grass sod usually responds favorably to 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen. If corn follows a good legume sod grown under a favorably fertility program, supplemental nitrogen may not be necessary.

Weather conditions can influence the effect of nitrogen on a corn crop. This past year many farmers reported that normal applications of nitrogen did not seem to be enough. This was probably due to cool, unfavorable growing conditions early in the season. This cool weather slowed the rate at which nitrogen was released in the soil.

A yield of 100 bushels of corn, plus the stalks to produce it, contain about 160 pounds of nitrogen, 60 pounds phosphate, and 120 pounds of potash. Part of this can be supplied by the soil, but at least the farmer should put back into the soil as much phosphate and potash as he takes away in crops harvested. If stalks remain in the field, considerable amounts of potash and some nitrogen and phosphate are eventually returned to the soil.

Most effective way to determine fertility needs is by a good soil test. This test should be made now so that farmers will have a basis on which to plan their 1961 fertility program. The load on the soils laboratory is less now and the tests will be returned sooner.

Living Costs Hit New Peak

U.S. Index Shows Food Price Climb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose four-tenths of one per cent in October to hit another peak.

Nearly half the increase was attributed to higher food prices but practically every element of consumer expenditures advanced.

The government index rose to 127.3 per cent of the 1947-49 average. This is 1.4 per cent higher than a year ago.

The October increase was the largest since last April. The index increased in eight of the first 10 months of 1960.

The new cost increase will bring a pay boost of two cents an hour to approximately a million workers in auto and farm equipment manufacturing.

About 80,000 other workers in the farm equipment industry and in several small aircraft firms are due a one-cent hourly increase.

Under labor contracts, the pay rates of these workers are adjusted to changes in the government index.

The question of whether nearly 500,000 workers in the iron and steel industry are due a living cost adjustment based on the October index is being submitted to arbitration. The matter is in dispute between the steel industry and the United Steelworkers Union.

Food prices which usually decline in October, went up instead by six-tenths of one per cent.

These combined with higher prices for new cars, higher rents and other housing costs, and increased prices for women's and girls' apparel to send the October price level to the record. Medical care costs were also up.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official weather bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Clear skies prevailed over Ohio during the night. However some scattered areas of heavy fog formed over the southern portion during the early morning hours.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 30 at Marietta to 42 at Mansfield. Columbus had 39 and Cleveland 40.

A stationary high pressure centered over the southeastern United States will result in a southerly flow of air across the state over the weekend. This southerly flow will bring unseasonably mild temperatures, ranging from the 60s in the afternoon into the 40s at night.

Mostly sunny skies will prevail today with fair to partly cloudy weather tonight and Sunday.

Perry County Recount To Resume on Monday

NEW LEXINGTON, Ohio (AP) — The Perry County Board of Elections will resume on Monday, and expects to complete by Tuesday a recount of votes for county engineer in the Nov. 8 election. The Democratic candidate for the post, Harold Hitchens, asked for the recount after the board drew a name from a hat and declared Republican incumbent James Davidson the winner. The name-drawing was decided on after both candidates polled identical votes of 5,929. A board spokesman said Friday that a recount in 36 of the county's 65 precincts did nothing to resolve the tie; it just gave each candidate 11 more votes.

Goodyear, Firestone Plan Tire Price Cut

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A reduction in passenger car tire prices, effective Dec. 1, was announced Friday by the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. Vice President O. E. Miles said the price cuts range as high as 10 per cent, depending on the type of tire.

Miles said Goodyear also is offering a new guarantee on tires ranging from 12 to 30 months.

Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. had announced previously that it will reduce tire prices $1. to $4 effective Dec. 1. The company also announced new guarantees on tires for passenger cars.

Church Study Says Strikes Have Outlived Usefulness

NEW YORK (AP) — A church-sponsored inquiry has concluded that last winter's 116-day steel strike foreshadowed an end of the usefulness of work stoppages in America.

"It seems clear enough," said the report "that our society, though still maintaining the basic right to strike, has advanced to the point where work stoppages will increasingly be felt to have outlived their usefulness."

The report was drawn up by a special 17-member committee, headed by Charles P. Taft, of Cincinnati, chairman of the department of the church and economic life of the National Council of Churches.

The study group, first of its kind sponsored by a major church organization, spent several months investigating the ethical issues posed by the drawn-out, costly steel strike of late 1959 and early 1960.

Its members included businessmen and economists, as well as clerical leaders.

The report cites "bigness" and its accompanying concentration of power in "big business" and "big labor" as a dominant factor in making such a damaging strike possible and says:

"Viewed realistically we have muddled through another major steel crisis with no clear resolution of the basic issues . . . a long and costly strike that, by any measure, was not worth its cost to anybody except as the experience may provide a basis for more constructive action by thoughtful men."

Reviewing causes of the strike — the company claims of inflation if higher wages were accorded, and union protests over work rule changes — the report says:

"Experience in this dispute highlights a growing concern that collective bargaining, as we know it, can prove to be an inadequate instrument for the solution of this kind of public interest dispute."

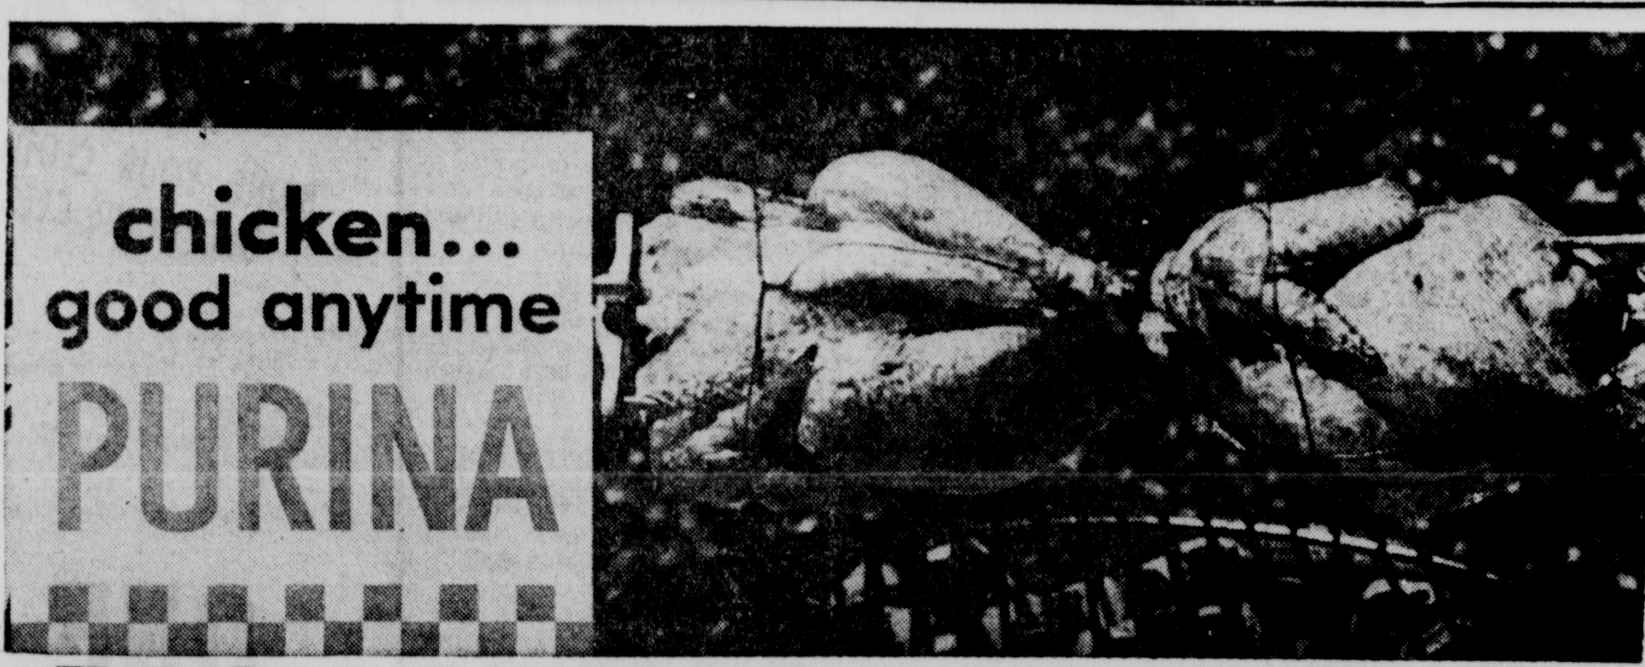

The Rev. Cameron P. Hall, executive director of the council's economic-life department, said the report is not to be construed as an official statement of the council, but as a document for study.

The council includes most major protestant and orthodox denominations.

About 17 million of America's workers are covered by some sort of private pension or retirement plan.

Army Finally Bares Reports On Defenses

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has made public two reports which Democrats had charged before the election were being withheld for political reasons. Prepared by a research contract organization the reports were critical of the nation's air raid warning system and the cold war program.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., chairman of the House subcommittee on Government Information, had charged Nov. 2 that the administration ordered the reports withheld for "political face-saving."

The two reports were prepared by the Operations Research Office of Johns Hopkins University under Army contracts. Their contents had been widely published in recent weeks.

One report said the presently used outdoor siren system was entirely inadequate for air raid warnings. It recommended instead installation of individual buzzer warning devices in homes and working places.

The other report suggested that unless the United States steps up economic expansion by 25 per cent and spends more for defense its world power position may become "inferior" to that of the Soviet Union during the next 10 years.

U.S. Seeks British Aid On Gold Drain

LONDON (AP) — A U.S. Economic mission is seeking British help in stopping the global drain on American gold resources after meeting with a rebuff from West Germany.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon hustled in from Paris and at once conferred with senior members of the British Cabinet.

They advised Chancellor of the Exchequer John Selwyn Lloyd and Foreign Secretary Lord Home of the failure of their attempt to win direct financial support from West Germany for the upkeep of U.S. forces there.

They also ranged over ways in which Britain could help counter the threat to the American economy.

In these talks, the governor of the Bank of England, Lord Cobbold, was a surprise participant.

A British-American exchange was arranged also on political and strategic affairs of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The U.S. vice-president elect, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., were seeing Lord Home and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan late in the day.

Both the senators are expected to play key roles in President-elect John F. Kennedy's incoming Democratic administration.

Pope Is 79

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII was 79 years old yesterday. The Vatican's yellow and gold flags were unfurled in his honor but there was no special celebration.

The Circleville Herald, Sat. November 26, 1960 3
Circleville, Ohio

100 Years Ago this week in the U.S.A.

The first compilations received from the Census Department on this year's "head-count" show that the past decade has produced spectacular changes in many aspects of life and business in our United States.

The population has reached the fabulous figure of 31,443,500, an increase of more than eight and one-half million people in the past ten years! New York City (including Brooklyn) counts well over one million inhabitants. Philadelphia holds claim to the second city, population-wise, with a count of half-a-million. The third city is Baltimore, Md., with 212,000. Boston, Mass., Cincinnati, O., and St. Louis, Mo. have each grown in population to the vicinity of 170,000.

The fact that there is a tendency toward city living is evident from the report that in 1850 only one-eighth of the people lived in communities that number at least 8,000; this year, one-sixth of the people live in such urban areas. Other items of interest show us that the railroads have expanded their routes to 300,000 miles in length as compared to 8,500 miles ten years ago. The value of manufacturing has grown in astounding proportions, the 1859 figure of $1,886,000,000 being almost double the billion dollar mark of 1849.

Major Robert Anderson arrived at Fort Moultrie in Charleston Harbor on Wednesday and assumed command of that fort. Fort Sumter, and Castle Pinckney, the three posts which make up the harbor's defenses.

On the 23rd he submitted his initial report to the War Department. In it he made reference to improvements that had been completed and others that were under way in order to bring the forts to a state of readiness. He reported also that reinforcement of all the posts was needed immediately.

Anderson made reference to the fact that it is sufficiently evident that South Carolina has definite plans to leave the Union and that preparations are being made to seize Fort Moultrie when secession occurs. He said that the Charleston townspeople regard Castle Pinckney (¾ of a mile from the city) as already their own.

Anderson claimed in his report that "nothing, however, would be better calculated to prevent bloodshed than our being found in such an attitude that it would be folly and madness to attack us." In his request for reinforcements, the Major suggested that two companies be sent for Fort Sumter and Castle Pinckney and a detachment be forwarded for his own headquarters post, Fort Moultrie. Moultrie is situated on Sullivan's Island on the north-east side of the harbor; Sumter is in the center channel and Pinckney is just off the point formed by the Ashley and Cooper Rivers.

The Mississippi state legislature went into session on Monday (the 26th) and received a message from Governor Pettus that was a scathing denunciation of northern "sectionalism." The Governor said that the northerners had for a whole generation inspired hatred among its peoples against the south.

In violent words he accused the north of trying to defame the south in the eyes of other nations and said that they (the northerners) had referred to southern planters as barbarians, pirates and robbers unfit for association with civilized and Christian men.

Pettus further claimed that the northerners were guilty of arousing insurrection among the slaves and encouraging them to burn, plunder and murder, even going so far as to provide weapons and ammunition for the foul work. There is no word as yet regarding any action on the part of the legislature, but there is little doubt that the body will soon call a convention for secession from the Union.

Spirit of Thanksgiving Aids Mother Who Abandoned Tots

NEW YORK (AP) — The spirit of Thanksgiving's human fellowship lingered on today in Felony Court and brought hope to a mother who said she had to abandon her two children because she was penniless and unable to care for them.

As the abandonment case against Eileen Weiss, 29, came up before Magistrate Reuben Levy, the court was told that a women's organization was working to provide the mother with a home, job and proper care for the two children.

Miss Weiss told the magistrate that the one thing she wants to do is get back her youngsters, Michael, 5, and Maria, 4.

The magistrate paroled her for a hearing Dec. 6 and told her: "I hope you will be able to work this out."

Miss Weiss abandoned the tots in the toy department of Gimbels on Thanksgiving Eve. After a while, store officials noticed the boy, escorting his sister about, explaining things and hovering protectively around her.

The children were taken into custody and repeated appeals over the store communication system failed to bring forth the mother.

Then, in the boy's pocket, officials found an unsigned note from the mother.

It said she was broke, jobless and hoped someone could care for them until she could reclaim them. Pictures of the youngsters were published in newspapers, and brought an anonymous tip which enabled police to find the mother in a small Brooklyn apartment.

The pictures also brought forth Salvatore Andrioli, 31, of Brooklyn, who identified himself as the children's father. Miss Weiss said he had been supporting her and the children, but had recently left her.

Andrioli said there was no need for the mother to have abandoned the tots, as he would have been glad to take them and provide for them. But, he said, Miss Weiss wouldn't let him.

ROBBED, AND INCONSIDERATELY—Officer Michael Chadwick uses great big snippers to get handcuffs off Stanley Okin, a victim of robbers in New York. The robber pair jumped Okin and his partner outside a bank to which they were taking a $5,500 payroll, and left them handcuffed to a radiator in a building nearby.

The other report suggested that unless the United States steps up economic expansion by 25 per cent and spends more for defense its world power position may become "inferior" to that of the Soviet Union during the next 10 years.

U.S. Seeks British Aid On Gold Drain

LONDON (AP)—A U.S. Economic mission is seeking British help in stopping the global drain on American gold resources after meeting with a rebuff from West Germany.

Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson and Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon hustled in from Paris and at once conferred with senior members of the British Cabinet.

They advised Chancellor of the Exchequer John Selwyn Lloyd and Foreign Secretary Lord Home of the failure of their attempt to win direct financial support from West Germany for the upkeep of U.S. forces there.

They also ranged over ways in which Britain could help counter the threat to the American economy.

In these talks, the governor of the Bank of England, Lord Cobbold, was a surprise participant.

A British-American exchange was arranged also on political and strategic affairs of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The U.S. vice-president elect, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, and Sen. William Fulbright, D-Ark., were seeing Lord Home and Prime Minister Harold Macmillan late in the day.

Both the senators are expected to play key roles in President-elect John F. Kennedy's incoming Democratic administration.

100 Years Ago

this week in the U.S.A.

The first compilations received from the Census Department on this year's "head-count" show that the past decade has produced spectacular changes in many aspects of life and business in our United States.

The population has reached the fabulous figure of 31,443,500, an increase of more than eight and one-half million people in the past ten years! New York City (including Brooklyn) counts well over one million inhabitants. Philadelphia holds claim to the second city, population-wise, with a count of half-a-million. The third city is Baltimore, Md., with 212,000. Boston, Mass., Cincinnati, O., and St. Louis, Mo. have each grown in population to the vicinity of 170,000.

The fact that there is a tendency toward city living is evident from the report that in 1850 only one-eighth of the people lived in communities that number at least 8,000; this year, one-sixth of the people live in such urban areas. Other items of interest show us that the railroads have expanded their routes to 300,000 miles in length as compared to 8,500 miles ten years ago. The value of manufacturing has grown in astounding proportions, the 1859 figure of $1,886,000,000 being almost double the billion dollar mark of 1849.

Major Robert Anderson arrived at Fort Moultrie in Charleston Harbor on Wednesday and assumed command of that fort, Fort Sumter, and Castle Pinckney, the three posts which make up the harbor's defenses.

On the 23rd he submitted his initial report to the War Department. In it he made reference to improvements that had been completed and others that were under way in order to bring the forts to a state of readiness. He reported also that reinforcement of all the posts was needed immediately. Anderson made reference to the fact that it is sufficiently evident that South Carolina has definite plans to leave the Union and that preparations are being made to seize Fort Moultrie when secession occurs. He said that the Charleston townspeople regard Castle Pinckney (3/4 of a mile from the city) as already their own.

Anderson claimed in his report that "nothing, however, would be better calculated to prevent bloodshed than our being found in such an attitude that it would be folly and madness to attack us." In his request for reinforcements, the Major suggested that two companies be sent for Fort Sumter and Castle Pinckney and a detachment be forwarded for his own headquarters post, Fort Moultrie. Moultrie is situated on Sullivan's Island on the north-east side of the harbor; Sumter is in the center channel and Pinckney is just off the point formed by the Ashley and Cooper Rivers.

The Mississippi state legislature went into session on Monday (the 26th) and received a message from Governor Pettus that was a scathing enunciation of northern "secessionism." The Governor said that the northerners had for a whole generation inspired hatred among its peoples against the south.

In violent words he accused the north of trying to defame the south in the eyes of other nations and said that they (the northerners) had referred to southern planters as barbarians, pirates and robbers unfit for association with civilized and Christian men.

Pettus further claimed that the northerners were guilty of arousing insurrection among the slaves and encouraging them to burn, plunder and murder, even going so far as to provide weapons and ammunition for the foul work. There is no word as yet regarding any action on the part of the legislature, but there is little doubt that the body will soon call a convention for secession from the Union.

Spirit of Thanksgiving Aids Mother Who Abandoned Tots

NEW YORK (AP)—The spirit of Thanksgiving's human fellowship lingered on today in Felony Court and brought hope to a mother who said she had to abandon her two children because she was penniless and unable to care for them.

As the abandonment case against Eileen Weiss, 29, came up before Magistrate Reuben Levy, the court was told that a women's organization was working to provide the mother with a home, job and proper care for the two children.

Miss Weiss told the magistrate that the one thing she wants to do is get back her youngsters, Michael, 5, and Maria, 4.

The magistrate paroled her for a hearing Dec. 6 and told her: "I hope you will be able to work this out."

Miss Weiss abandoned the tots in the toy department of Gimbels on Thanksgiving Eve. After a while, store officials noticed the boy escorting his sister about, explaining things and hovering protectively around her.

The children were taken into custody and repeated appeals over the store communication system failed to bring forth the mother.

Then, in the boy's pocket, officials found an unsigned note from the mother.

It said she was broke, jobless and hoped someone could care for them until she could reclaim them. Pictures of the youngsters were published in newspapers, and brought an anonymous tip which enabled police to find the mother in a small Brooklyn apartment.

The pictures also brought forth Salvatore Andrioli, 31, of Brooklyn, who identified himself as the children's father. Miss Weiss said he had been supporting her and the children, but had recently left her.

Andrioli said there was no need for the mother to have abandoned the tots, as he would have been glad to take them and provide for them. But, he said, Miss Weiss wouldn't let him.

Uncle Sam's sprawling interests have at times involved in embarrassing real estate transactions from which he emerges neither richer nor wiser. One example: in many areas of the country are abandoned or greatly curtailed military training posts with seemingly endless rows of frame barracks—windows boarded, paint peeling and roofs leaking.

Caretaker forces are the only occupants of many of these installations, resembling the final inhabitants of a ghost town. With the modern military concept turning farther away from individual combat and increasingly toward mass destructive hardware requiring little manpower, it is unlikely many of these posts will be used again as military training sites.

What then will they be used for? When the deterioration of the structures on them becomes complete enough to make repair prohibitive, will the land be offered for sale to private buyers? It should be if the growing government ownership of land is to be reversed.

Ellis Island is another abandoned white elephant which could be put to good use, but has remained idle since the Immigration and Naturalization Service withdrew in 1954. This island consists of 27 acres of well developed roads, 35 large buildings of permanent construction, and wharves, docks and other facilities necessary to an independent community.

President Eisenhower decided against offering the island for sale to private ownership and instructed the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to dispose of it for educational or health purposes.

Fifteen educators have applied for permission to renovate the island at a cost of $6 million and turn it into an intensive liberal arts school for about 1,000 gifted students. Under this proposal, the island would be ceded to the group free of charge.

It would be difficult to find a more suitable purpose for Ellis Island than the establishment of an educational institution dedicated to the pursuit of knowledge beyond the scope of the average college or university. The public investment now going to waste would be returned to the country many times over by graduates of such an institution.

Who Will Fill Cabinet Posts?

By George Sokolsky

Guessing about the Cabinet is no longer a game. Politicians are deeply concerned because they wonder what will happen to them in this curious election. Businessmen are concerned because they wonder who will direct the Department of Justice which, during the Eisenhower Administration, violated both common sense and the economic interests of the country by anti-trust prosecutions which failed to recognize that we were no longer in the Administration of William Howard Taft.

Most of all, interest centers about the Secretary of State. Many names are being mentioned, among them Chester Bowles, Senator Fulbright, Adlai Stevenson, General Gruenther, Dean Acheson and more. None of these have any political claims on President-elect Kennedy. They contributed nothing to his nomination or election.

Chester Bowles, it was once assumed, was sure in. The State Department has two major tasks before it: one, is the management of the American side of the Cold War; the other, is a total reorganization of the State Department which is an unusually incompetent organization and managed department of government. Had Vice President Nixon been elected, it was his plan to organize a new department to supervise all Cold War activities with his Vice President. Henry Cabot Lodge, in charge. This would have left to the State Department routine matters and would have given any Secretary of State an opportunity to reorganize and rebuild his department. Whether Kennedy will adopt some such plan is not known. Chester Bowles has often expressed his ideas concerning foreign affairs and is better informed about India, to which he was ambassador, than about the problems of the Cold War.

Senator Fulbright, as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee of the Senate, is, of course, well informed as to our foreign relations. Apart from that, his administrative abilities have not been on display.

Adlai Stevenson is naturally well known to the country. Twice a candidate for the Presidency, he has often expressed his views on foreign affairs.

He is liberal-minded and his language is fuzzy but it would appear that, on the whole, he is given to unconsciousness of the perils of the Russian territorial advances but has definite ideas as to what should be done in Latin America.

So we come to Dean Acheson, Secretary of State during the Truman Administration. Even his enemies admit that Dean Acheson is an excellent technician in international relations. Their objection to him is that he was soft on Red China and that he is responsible for the failure in Korea. However, since Dean Acheson left the State Department, he has delivered addresses and has written articles which disclose that his understanding of the Cold War is sound. It will perhaps astound Dean Acheson that many of those who formerly opposed him now regard him favorably.

Perhaps equal to the Secretary of State in importance is the Ambassador to the United Nations. He is daily on the firing line. He has to make trip—hammer decisions and his language affects relations immediately. He must be forthright, experienced, witty and articulate. The best man this country has produced for this job is Henry Cabot Lodge. While no man is indispensable, it would be a waste of talent not to employ Lodge—who is a Republican.

The next most important appointment is the Secretary of the Treasury. Many names are mentioned. Two tower above the rest, Eugene Black of the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, and John McCloy who was our pro-consul in Germany from 1949 to 1952 and subsequently became chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank. These men understand international finance and the handling of the dollar. This Administration needs talent without regard to party or any other impediment.

The third most important appointment is that of Attorney General. This office has been managed unrealistically in recent years. It requires a mind that grasps the relationship of social and economic conditions in the United States to the law. Its supervision of the courts should be tighter; its recommendations to the President regarding judges should elevate the judiciary by eliminating party politics. Thus far, two names have appeared: Governor Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut and Robert Kennedy, the President-elect's brother and manager. Both are excellent men for this position.

Extraordinary Mood Music Tied to Churchill TV Series

EDITOR'S NOTE — Richard Rodgers has finished the musical score for a new TV series based on Winston Churchill's memoirs. No ordinary mood music, Rodgers explain his themes will help viewers smell the cigar smoke and hear with twice the impact the famous Churchillian prose.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"I think that if we had just had Richard Burton read Winston Churchill's prose without the background, it would have been dull," said composer Richard Rodgers. "In fact, I think that the only person who wouldn't have seemed dull would have been Churchill himself."

Rodgers, a musical giant of the entertainment industry, was explaining the part music is expected to play in a documentary series, "Winston Churchill: The Valiant Years," which has its premiere performance on ABC Monday night (10:30-11 p.m.). It is based on the six-volume memoir of World War II by the former British prime minister.

"The problem is to project the essence, the texture of the man," continued Rodgers. "And this can only be done by a combination of three elements—the words, the pictures and the music."

"And the whole thing would fail if any one of these elements is out of proportion or out of whack. Each is important to the whole."

Rodgers, although perhaps best known for the fruits of his long collaboration with the late Oscar Hammerstein III in "Oklahoma!," "Carousel," "The Sound of Music," "South Pacific" and other Broadway productions, is a veteran and skillful hand in this highly specialized area of "scoring" a television documentary.

It was Rodgers who composed the score for one of TV's first documentary classics, "Victory at Sea," produced with the cooperation of the U. S. Navy and first shown in 1952—and still being rerun on stations all over the country. His music for the series is the longest symphonic work ever written—13 hours of music. Some of the themes were recorded that year and recently volume one passed the quarter-million mark in sales.

"The basic truth about music and its importance in all of life is that there is no mood existing which cannot be heightened by music," the composer said. "A boy with his girl in a canoe on a moonlight night can do better if he's brought a radio along with him. A mood of fright, of anticipation, of romance, of whatever is sought for the audience in theater seats or living room armchairs is immensely heightened by the correct use of music."

Sometimes the music is carefully designed to be so unobtrusive the audience is almost completely unaware that it is an ingredient. At other points it swells to dominate the mind and ears. Advertisers and producers of television programs are lavish users of "mood" music, increasingly so through the past few years. Advertisers long since have learned that music can be used very successfully for identification—they used it in that way far back in the days of radio.

The World Today

By James Marlow

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
(For James Marlow)

Associated Press News Analyst
Here is an ominous aspect of the Soviet-Red Chinese quarrel: It could result in World War III, and Moscow seems to be preparing for the possibility.

Soviet propaganda makes much of the term peace, but at the same time it seems to be actively conditioning the minds of people in Red-ruled lands for the possibility of a preventive war against the United States.

The suspicion is reinforced by the statement of Premier Khrushchev Wednesday to Pravda on the subject of disarmament. Historically, Communist leaders have accused others of planning what, in fact, has been in their own minds.

Khrushchev accused the West of duplicity in disarmament talks, of steadily building up nuclear weapons stockpiles and of constant provocations and spying against the U.S.S.R. All this, said Khrushchev could enable the United States to "choose the suitable moment for dealing their blow and starting an aggression."

Taken by itself, this might not appear too menacing. But this sort of thing has been publicized time and again by Soviet propaganda ever since last May, when Khrushchev, using the U2 plane incident as his excuse, was preparing to blow up the Paris summit conference.

Since then Khrushchev has given the impression that the appearance of a single U.S. plane or submarine in Soviet air or waters will be considered a military invasion—in a word, an aggression which could be answered with a big preventive blow.

Some Western experts express belief the Kremlin is engaged in a psychological buildup to justify a preventive attack should that, to the Kremlin's way of thinking, become necessary.

In Munich, Germany, experts of the institute for study of the U.S.S.R. say they detect such a trend. Hammering propaganda for six months has been keyed to an antipathy to Americans, to picturing the United States and West Germany, in that order, as real and present menaces to the Soviet population.

One method of psychological buildup, says the institute, is an attempt to reproduce in Russia the mood of World War II through glorification of the armed forces and constant appeals for vigilance and defense readiness.

Red China insists upon the letter of Leninist dogma: That war between the two world camps must come. The Chinese say it must not be feared, that Communists must not hesitate, regardless of risks, to expand at every opportunity.

Manifestly, this worries Khrushchev, who has contended that while communism would win, there would be little left after nuclear war on either side.

Khrushchev could lose the argument and be toppled in favor of a group more receptive to the Chinese idea. Desperation could lead to that, if an entrenched hierarchy should see in the developing argument a real threat to its continued sway over the Soviet Union and the world Communist movement.

Khrushchev has played for time, and won some time in the Communist summit which began Nov. 9 in Moscow. He is still on a spot. The dissidents—Red Chinese and those agreeing with them—will watch carefully as Khrushchev approaches the new U. S. administration.

It is possible Khrushchev will win out, and 1961 will be just another nerve-racking cold war year. It is possible also that he will lose, and 1961 will be the most dangerous year of the cold war era.

Swedish Actress Shudders At Idea of Hollywood Job

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was a time when a Hollywood career was the ambition of every actress in the world. No more.

You could cite, for example, Sweden's Gunnel Lindblom, which is not bad citing. She is a lovely, articulate blonde known to American audiences for her roles in Ingmar Bergman classics such as "The Seventh Seal" and "Wild Strawberries."

She was in Hollywood briefly, not to sign a contract but to help publicize a new Bergman film in which she stars, "The Virgin Spring." She shuddered at the suggestion of working here.

"It would frighten me," she said. "I don't think I could face it. Yes, I have had offers. But they wanted me to sign a 7-year contract. Seven years! It seems like half a lifetime."

Why would a Hollywood career frighten her?

"Because actors have to be so intense about their careers here. I do not want to have my whole life devoted to it. In Sweden, we are able to have our own personal lives. We are not bothered by the public."

Even Ingrid Bergman can walk the streets of Stockholm and not be approached by people. Oh, perhaps two or three girls might ask her for an autograph. But that is all.

If Miss Lindblom's attitude prevails, it could but Hollywood off from a principal source of talent. Sweden has long contributed bright names to American films: Greta Garbo, Ingrid Bergman, Viveca Lindfors, Signe Hasso, Marta Toren.

Why should one modest-sized country contribute so much talent? Miss Lindblom helped explain: "We have seven civic theaters in Sweden, all state-supported. Two of the theaters have excellent schools for newcomers."

The performers receive a thorough schooling in dramatics, including the classics. Miss Lindblom came up through Ibsen and Ingmar Bergman. She became Strindberg and made her first big hit in "Faust," directed by Ingmar Bergman. She became part of his stock company for to dominate the mind and ears. Advertisers and producers of television programs are lavish users of "mood" music, increasingly so through the past few years. Advertisers long since have learned that music can be used very successfully for identification—they used it in that way far back in the days of radio.

They'll Do It Every Time

The World Today

Here is an ominous aspect of the Soviet-Red Chinese quarrel: It could result in World War III, and Moscow seems to be preparing for the possibility.

Soviet propaganda makes much of the term peace, but at the same time it seems to be actively conditioning the minds of people in Red-ruled lands for the possibility of a preventive war against the United States.

The suspicion is reinforced by the statement of Premier Khrushchev Wednesday to Pravda on the subject of disarmament. Historically, Communist leaders have accused others of planning what, in fact, has been in their own minds.

Khrushchev accused the West of duplicity in disarmament talks, of steadily building up nuclear weapons stockpiles and of constant provocations and spying against the U.S.S.R. All this, said Khrushchev, could enable the United States to "choose the suitable moment for dealing their blow and starting an aggression."

Taken by itself, this might not appear too menacing. But this sort of thing has been publicized time and again by Soviet propaganda ever since last May, when Khrushchev, using the U2 plane incident as his excuse, was preparing to blow up the Paris summit conference.

Since then Khrushchev has given the impression that the appearance of a single U.S. plane or submarine in Soviet air or waters will be considered a military invasion—in a word, an aggression which could be answered with a big preventive blow.

Some Western experts express belief the Kremlin is engaged in a psychological buildup to justify a preventive attack should that, to the Kremlin's way of thinking, become necessary.

In Munich, Germany, experts of the institute for study of the U.S.S.R. say they detect such a trend. Hammering propaganda for six months has been keyed to an antipsy mania, to hatred and distrust of Americans, to picturing the United States and West Germany, in that order, as real and present menaces to the Soviet population.

One method of psychological buildup, says the institute, is an attempt to reproduce in Russia the mood of World War II through glorification of the armed forces and constant appeals for vigilance and defense readiness.

Red China insists upon the letter of Leninist dogma: That war between the two world camps must come. The Chinese say it must not be feared, that Communists must not hesitate, regardless of risks, to expand at every opportunity.

Manifestly, this worries Khrushchev, who has contended that while communism would win, there would be little left after nuclear war on either side.

Khrushchev could lose the argument and be toppled in favor of a group more receptive to the Chinese idea. Desperation could lead to that, if an entrenched hierarchy should see in the developing argument a real threat to its continued sway over the Soviet Union and the world Communist movement.

Khrushchev has played for time, and won some time in the Communist summit which began Nov. 9 in Moscow. He is still on a spot. The dissidents—Red Chinese and those agreeing with them—will watch carefully as Khrushchev approaches the new U. S. administration.

It is possible Khrushchev will win out, and 1961 will be just another nerve-racking cold war year. It is possible also that he will lose, and 1961 will be the most dangerous year of the cold war era.

Swedish Actress Shudders At Idea of Hollywood Job

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was a time when a Hollywood career was the ambition of every actress in the world. No more.

You could cite, for example, Sweden's Gunnel Lindblom, who is not bad citing. She is a lovely, articulate blonde known to American audiences for her roles in Ingmar Bergman classics such as "The Seventh Seal" and "Wild Strawberries."

She was in Hollywood briefly, not to sign a contract but to help publicize a new Bergman film in which she stars, "The Virgin Spring." She shuddered at the suggestion of working here.

"It would frighten me," she said. "I don't think I could face it. Yes, I have had offers. But they wanted me to sign a 7-year contract. Seven years! It seems like half a lifetime."

Why would a Hollywood career frighten her?

"Because actors have to be so intense about their careers here. I do not want to have my whole life devoted to it. In Sweden, we are able to have our own personal lives. We are not bothered by the public."

Even Ingrid Bergman can walk the streets of Stockholm and not be approached by people. Oh, perhaps two or three girls might ask her for an autograph. But that is all.

If Miss Lindblom's attitude prevails, it could but Hollywood off from a principal source of talent. Sweden has long contributed bright names to American films: Greta Garbo, Ingrid Bergman, Viveca Lindfors, Signe Hasso, Marta Torren.

Why should one modest-sized country contribute so much talent? Miss Lindblom helped explain: "We have seven civic theaters in Sweden, all state-supported. Two of the theaters have excellent schools for newcomers."

The performers receive a thorough schooling in dramatics, including the classics. Miss Lindblom came up through Ibsen and Ingmar Bergman. She became Strindberg and made her first big hit in "Faust," directed by Ingmar Bergman. She became part of his stock company for

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

How Do You Rate in a Man's Idea of a Perfect Spouse?

What a rising young salesman should look for in a wife is spelled out by Vincent F. Sullivan, New York newspaper executive, in a book called "How to Sell Your Way into the Big Money" just published by Prentice Hall. He writes—

"A wife must be ambitious not only for herself but for her husband. She must work with him, prod him, push him if he needs it, but never too obviously nor too fast.

"She must be a good sport about disappointments and setbacks. When a real crisis takes place her philosophy should be, 'Well, I'm on the floor now — I certainly can't fall off from here.'

"She must demonstrate her loyalty to you, and show a deep respect for your abilities and your ambitions.

"She must never be critical of you in any way but, reversely, should go out of her way to compliment you whenever at all possible.

"If she quibbles about money — drop her fast.

"The young lady under inspection must have a pleasant and varied voice. If she is the whining type or in any way boisterous, check her off the list immediately.

"If she has a good sense of humor, including the ability to laugh at herself, she probably will do.

"She must be big enough in mind to accept your friends and modes of recreation without sarcastically telling you that perhaps they might be improved upon or changed.

"Above all, she must show a keen interest in the man that you are, the problems of your job, and your supreme ambition to reach out for the high salary objective.

"And she should have some sex appeal.

"If you can't find a girl with all the aforementioned qualifications, you should just keep trying."

Good luck, young man!

This of course is just one facet of Mr. Sullivan's advice on how to become a super-salesman. After outlining the techniques, from the product research to the dotted line, he winds up with a call to "get back to work."

"The secret of Soviet success," he says, "is that their people work as if coffee breaks didn't exist; our people work as if nothing else existed."

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

It Ain't Necessarily So!

DEAR ABBY: I am 25. I have a son who is 6. He was born out of wedlock. We live with my mother and I work. I have grown fond of a man who is 50. He's the kindest, most considerate man I've ever known. He wants to marry me and adopt my son. He never mentions my past, is good to my son, and you won't believe this, Abby, but he's never gotten fresh or made an indecent suggestion to me. My one experience with "romantic love" was with the baby's father. He ran like a rat when he learned I was pregnant. My friends say I'll be sorry if I marry this man. I think I'll be happy. Can a marriage based on mutual respect and understanding work? Or must there be "romantic love"?

UNDECIDED
DEAR UNDECIDED: I've heard from many couples whose marriages—based on "romantic love"—collapsed in less than a year. No marriage is perfect. Mutual respect and understanding is a solid enough foundation for a lasting marriage.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a husband who is going back to his second childhood. I am 57 and he is 59 and we live in a rural community. My husband walks half a mile down the road every morning to catch a ride with a fellow worker who drives right past our door.

The reason my husband goes to this man's house to wait is because he hopes to catch the man's wife in her baby doll pajamas. He has kidded me about this, but I wouldn't put it past him. What action should I take him?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: Get yourself a pair of baby doll pajamas.

DEAR ABBY: We have in our circle of friends a fine man who has a very bad habit. He monopolizes every conversation, in his own home, or anybody else's. He seems unhappy unless he has the floor. We often enjoy the presence of a well-traveled visitor but we are robbed of the wonderful experiences he was to tell because this man insists on doing all the talking, asking all the questions or changing the subject. He is well-to-do, respected and intelligent, and we wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world. How can we correct him without offending him?

HIS FRIENDS
DEAR FRIENDS: If he is truly "intelligent", do him a favor and tell him, privately. He might be a little "hurt" at first, but if he takes your well-meaning suggestion to heart, he will be more welcome and better loved by all.

Willing Workers Slate Officers

A slate of officers was presented at the Willing Workers Sunday School Class of Pontious EUB Church last Thursday in the home of Mrs. Charles Holland Jr., Route 4.

Mrs. Betty Palmer presided during the business session. The meeting opened with the group singing "Wa Friend We Have in Jeuss."

Prayer was voiced by Mrs. M. R. White. Devotions consisted of Thanksgiving readings and poems led by Mrs. Lola Kraft.

Members voted to make a contribution to the "Home Christmas" offering. Plans for a Christmas dinner party at Kerns Restaurant were discussed.

Refreshments were served to nine members and three guests.

Actress Raps TV Portrayal Of Housewives in Curlers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the American wife a household eyecore in curlers and flowered frock?

That's the way she's seen on many a TV show, and Marilyn Erskine is conducting a one-woman crusade against such slander. She appears on Tuesday nights as the spouse on the Tom Ewell show, and she's no frump.

"I should think women would resent the way they are portrayed on some of the family shows," she remarked. "I do, I'm a housewife myself and my portrayal stems from the way I appear in my own home."

"After all Tom is supposed to be a successful businessman in the show. He is earning perhaps $18,000 or more a year. It stands to reason he would want and expect his wife to be smart-looking and neat."

"But I think it's true of most housewives in any salary bracket nowadays. They are more careful about their appearance."

Marilyn had her own personal tilt with this question two years ago. She had to drop 30 pounds. "I like to eat," she confessed.

"One day I looked at myself in the mirror and said, 'This has got to go.' After all, I was married to a very attractive man (businessman Charles Curland). It was senseless for me to continue looking plump while he took care of his body."

"So I started a campaign. I had dieted most of my life and always found it dull. I determined to find ways to continue the enjoyment of eating and yet take off the pounds. I tried to cook things—in smaller amounts—that were not fattening, but still delicious."

The pound-shelving not only helped her health and morale, it boosted her career as well.

"After all, this is a very fat-conscious town," she said. "When I was under contract to MGM, they were always telling me, 'Better do something about that rear, dear.'"

She did a few films at MGM, then played Ida in "The Eddie Cantor Story." After that, she did no films, concentrating on TV and rearing two children. She resisted a series until the Ewell show came along. It was too good to pass up, and now she's giving a weekly boost to housewife morale.

After you drain boiled potatoes shake the spuds in their pan over high heat to dry them.

The reason my husband goes to this man's house to wait is because he hopes to catch the man's wife in her baby doll pajamas. He has kidded me about this, but I wouldn't put it past him. What action should I follow?

JEALOUS
DEAR JEALOUS: Get yourself a pair of baby doll pajamas.

DEAR ABBY: We have in our circle of friends a fine man who has a very bad habit. He monopolizes every conversation, in his own home, or anybody else's. He seems unhappy unless he has the floor. We often enjoy the presence of a well-traveled visitor but we are robbed of the wonderful experiences he was to tell because this man insists on doing all the talking, asking all the questions or changing the subject. He is well-to-do, respected and intelligent, and we wouldn't hurt his feelings for the world. How can we correct him without offending him?

HIS FRIENDS
DEAR FRIENDS: If he is truly "intelligent," do him a favor and tell him, privately. He might be a little "hurt" at first, but if he takes your well-meaning suggestion to heart, he will be more welcome and better loved by all.

Actress Raps TV Portrayal Of Housewives in Curlers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Is the American wife a household eyecore in curlers and flowered frock?

That's the way she's seen on many a TV show, and Marilyn Erskine is conducting a one-woman crusade against such slander. She appears on Tuesday nights as the spouse on the Tom Ewell show, and she's no frump.

"I should think women would resent the way they are portrayed on some of the family shows," she remarked. "I do. I'm a housewife myself and my portrayal stems from the way I appear in my own home."

"After all Tom is supposed to be a successful businessman in the show. He is earning perhaps $18,000 or more a year. It stands to reason he would want and expect his wife to be smart-looking and neat."

"But I think it's true of most housewives in any salary bracket nowadays. They are more careful about their appearance."

Marilyn had her own personal tilt with this question two years ago. She had to drop 30 pounds.

"I like to eat," she confessed. "One day I looked at myself in the mirror and said, 'This has got to go.' After all, I was married to a very attractive man (businessman Charles Curland). It was senseless for me to continue looking plump while he took care of his body."

"So I started a campaign. I had dieted most of my life and always found it dull. I determined to find ways to continue the enjoyment of eating and yet take off the pounds. I tried to cook things—in smaller amounts—that were not fattening, but still delicious."

The pound-shedding not only helped her health and morale, it boosted her career as well.

"After all, this is a very fat-conscious town," she said. "When I was under contract to MGM, they were always telling me, 'Better do something about that rear, dear.'"

She did a few films at MGM, then played Ida in "The Eddie Cantor Story." After that, she did no films, concentrating on TV and rearing two children. She resisted a series until the Ewell show came along. It was too good to pass up, and now she's giving a weekly boost to housewife morale.

Belated Eagle Punch Brings Favorite Role

Giants Are Underdogs In Game Sunday; Colts To Entertain 49ers

By THE ASSOCIATE DPRESS
Sometimes statistics lie. Sometimes they are meaningless. But there is one statistic more than any other that tells why the Philadelphia Eagles are leading the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

The Philadelphia team has scored 92 points in the last period of eight games it has played an average of 11½ for each fourth quarter. Why?

Apparently because the Eagles' quick, sure pass receivers—Tommy McDonald, Bobby Walston and Pete Retzlaff—wear down the defenders and make them easy prey for Norm Van Brocklin's late-game passing.

That's what happened last Sunday when the Eagles, behind 10-0, controlled the ball practically the entire last half and scored 10 points in the final quarter to upset the Giants at New York 17-10.

And that's one reason why the Eagles are 6-point home favorites to beat the Giants (5-2-1) again Sunday and run the Philadelphia winning streak to seven after a season-opening loss to the Cleveland Browns.

If the Eagles' 92 last-period points don't seem impressive, consider that the Baltimore Colts, highest scoring team in the league through eight games, have scored only 59 in the final period out of a 238 total. Philadelphia's total is 211.

The Colts (6-2) hold the same position in the Western Conference as the Eagles do in the East—a game and a half lead with four to play. After a week off, Baltimore is home Sunday to the San Francisco 49ers (4-4), and the Colts are 15-point favorites.

If the Eagles can take the Giants they need only one more to clinch a tie for the title. Baltimore is also in good shape with only second-division opponent left on the schedule. Unless both conference leaders flop, the Dec. 26 NFL title game seems likely to be at Philadelphia where the Colts would shoot for an unprecedented third straight playoff championship.

The Green Bay Packers (5-4), who had the Western lead a few weeks back, lost their second straight, 23-10 to the Detroit Lions on Thanksgiving Day and now the Bears are the chief threat to the Colts.

Chicago (4-3-1) is favored by 22 over the visiting Dallas Texans (0-9) Sunday. The Browns (5-3) must whip the Cardinals (5-4) at St. Louis to remain in contention in the East. Cleveland is favored by a touchdown.

The East's bottom teams, Pittsburgh (3-5-1) and Washington (1-5-2), round out the schedule with the Steelers favored by 10 over the Redskins who held them to a 27-21 tie at Washington last month. Los Angeles is idle.

There were some worries in the Houston Oilers camp a couple of weeks ago. The Oilers were 6-3 for the American Football League season, Boston was closing fast and quarterback George Blanda was out with an ankle injury.

Enter rookie Jack Lee. In his first performance a week ago he threw touchdown passes of 78, 92 and 73 yards in the mud and goo against Denver in a 20-10 victory. And Friday night this tall, calm young man, 22, rattled the Boston Patriots' defense with his passes and mixed his plays beautifully in a 24-10 decision that all but wrapped up the Easter Division title for the Oilers.

Houston now has a three-game lead with only three games remaining. They can't do worse than tie for the title. Boston and New York are tied for second at 5-6. Lee completed 21 of 38 passes for 331 yards for one touchdown. And he set up two others with passes and directed a 74-yard drive that ended in a field goal.

Even with that performance, Boston stayed close and trailed 14-10 going into the final period. But Blanda hobbled in to kick a 16-yard field goal and a few minutes later Lee hit Bill Groman with a 40-yard pass that carried to the 4. Two plays later Doug Cline jammed across.

The game, played before a capacity house of 27,123, was the only action in the league. Sunday Oakland (5-5) and Los Angeles (6-4) battle for the Western Division title.

Browns Slated To Beef Up Grid Defense

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns may use the strategy of frequent defensive substituting to get more pressure on the passer when they play the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis Sunday afternoon.

This was indicated by the pattern set Friday afternoon in Cleveland's final extensive drill in preparation for the game.

The plan would mean more work for Jim Marshall, Larry Stephens, Jim Prestel and possibly Dave Lloyd.

Marshall, a rookie from Ohio State, started out as a regular but had some problems with team defense. However, he is strong and fast and capable of exerting pressure on the passer. He plays right end, where Paul Wiggin is the usual starter.

Wiggin also is experienced at the other end, where Jim Houston is the regular starter.

Stephens, the understudy for Floyd Peters, and Prestel, who works behind Bob Gain, both are fast for big men. Lloyd is a substitute center and extra linebacker.

"There is not much difference in the ability of several of these players," said Coach Paul Brown. "A change of pace in style may help."

"A blocker may get used to one style and then be upset when something else is thrown against him. We've been bringing these new fellows along rather slowly. They are just about ready."

All the Browns' cripples were back at work Friday and are expected to play against the Cardinals. Guards Jim Ray Smith and Vince Costello who had been sidelined with injuries, appeared to be up to par. Halfback Ray Renfro said his injured knee felt better than it did a week ago.

The Browns will hold a brief final workout at Busch Stadium in St. Louis this afternoon.

Former CHS Stars Home for Holidays

Several former Circleville High School athletes of last year are home from various universities to enjoy the Thanksgiving holidays.

Included are Bob Shadley, Larry Hannans, and Dave Huffer. Shadley, a first year man at Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., has been named to the freshman cage squad there.

Hannans is home from Iowa State University at Ames, Ia., where he played end on the Cyclones' freshman grid squad this season.

Huffer, in his first year at Ohio University, Athens, was a lineman for this year's Bobcat freshman unit.

Yankees Beef Up Their Bonus Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees have taken their first step in a new bonus policy designed to compete with other clubs for promising young baseball players.

The American League champions Friday paid one of their largest bonuses in signing Howard Kutt, 18-year-old southpaw pitcher sought by every major league club. No sum was disclosed but the payment reportedly was in excess of $50,000.

Kitt, a Columbia University sophomore, posted a record of 40 victories and one defeat while pitching for high school, recreation and sandlot teams.

The first New York motor boat show was held in Madison Square Garden in 1905.

Local Hunters Bag 12 Deer

Several local hunting parties that forayed into the Big Bay Country of Michigan the last couple of weeks met with success as they brought home 12 deer.

Making the trip were Jim and Frank Mace, Lloyd Minor, Don Strous, Stillman Morrison, Hewitt Cromley, Harold Strawser, Harold Riffle, Tom Wells, Chet Hill, Bob Elsea, John Bell, Robin Jones and Charles Glitt.

The hunters bagged four large bucks, one spike buck, two button bucks and five does.

The largest deer was brought down by Strawser. The kill dressed out at about 180 pounds.

Several of the hunters returned last week and the remainder this week.

Haas, Pott Tied In Mobile Tournery

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Freddie Haas and Johnny Pott, Louisiana State University golf stars of 20 years ago, shared a shaky lead today at the start of the third round in the Mobile Open tournament.

Both were pressed by Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa., and Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa. Gustin, tied with Haas for the lead after the first round, now has a 66-69-135.

Palmer will become pro golf's alltime money winner for one year if he can cop one of the first three prizes in the $15,000 meet. He needs $1,119.65 to pass Ted Kroll's 1956 mark of $72,835 in earnings. The top three finishers here get $2,000, $1,500 and $1,200 respectively.

Jockey Sam Boulmetis sold papers at the gates of Pimlico race track in Baltimore when he was a youngster.

Baylor Runs Score Average To near 46

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Where would the Los Angeles Lakers be without Elgin Baylor? They shudder to think.

In the past seven games, Baylor has scored 320 points, almost 46 a game. The Lakers have won six of their last seven.

Their streak also has kept them within sight of the St. Louis Hawks, who are leading the Western division of the National Basketball Association. The Lakers trail by 2½ games.

Baylor found the range for 51 points Friday night and the Lakers whipped the Detroit Pistons, 141-128, in overtime. Baylor pulled the Lakers back from a 14-point deficit in the first period, kept them close in the second, broke a 116-116 tie in the final period and tossed in four points in a row in the overtime to settle it.

In the only other game of the night the Boston Celtics, leading the Eastern Division, edged the New York Knickerbockers 111-110 on Frank Ramsey's two free throws with 15 seconds to go.

Dietrich, Cottril Roll High Series

John Dietrich's 561 and Bob Cottril's 507 were high series scores in Early Wednesday league bowling at Circle D Recreation.

The 7-Up team had a 961 single game and 2,820 for the series to lead in those departments.

GRID HEROES ARE (JUST) BORN—You might call these two football heroes of the future "Muck" and "Mire" and then again you might call them John Engbretson, 11, and his brother, Jeff, 8, caught eating hot dogs after a grade school game at the Forbes Air Force base at Topeka, Kan.

Syracuse University cross-country coach Bob Grieve calls junior Joe Francello of Arlington, N. J., one of the finest distance runners he has ever coached.

beat Reid's brother, Doug, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. Ralston went down before Barry Phillips Moore 8-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Bernard (Tut) Bartzten, Dallas, Tex., was eliminated by Mike Sangston of England 6-3, 6-3, 6-4.

Before he was calmed down by David Freed, the U.S. team captain, during the intermission after the third set MacKay seemed on the verge of elimination.

The temperamental Yank twice blew set point in the long third set and when he finally lost the set, he hit the ball high into the stands. The spectators booed lustily as they had done at MacKay's earlier tantrums.

Once MacKay turned to Freed, sitting in the stands, and exclaimed in a loud voice:

"This is a day I should have stayed in bed—but I don't have a bed."

The reference was to hotel quarters which the team found unsatisfactory. The Americans moved today into a suburban apartment house.

MacKay said the hotel did not have a bed big enough for his 6-foot, 4-inch frame.

Other players complained they were unable to sleep because of small rooms.

Freed said MacKay reported to the courts in a state of unhappiness over the living quarters and then had his jumpiness fed by a couple of questionable calls.

DeJohn Is Favored To Defeat Hunter

NEW YORK (AP)—Experience gives Mike DeJohn a slight edge over Billy Hunter in the television battle of the tall heavyweight contenders at Madison Square Garden tonight.

DeJohn, a 28-year-old cloutier from Syracuse, N.Y., is a slight favorite over the 26-year-old Hunter of Detroit. They are scheduled for 10 rounds (ABC TV, 10 p.m. EST) but it wouldn't be surprising if it ends much quicker.

Winner of four straight in the past year, DeJohn has a 40-7-1 record including 27 knockouts. Hunter has had only 25 fights for a 16-7-2 record including nine kayos.

DeJohn is ranked ninth among the heavyweights by the National Boxing Association.

Scoring will be by the rounds system.

The East's bottom teams, Pittsburgh (3-5-1) and Washington (1-5-2), round out the schedule with the Steelers favored by 10 over the Redskins who held them to a 27-27 tie at Washington last month. Los Angeles is idle.

There were some worries in the Houston Oilers camp a couple of weeks ago. The Oilers were 6-3 for the American Football League season, Boston was closing fast and quarterback George Blanda was out with an ankle injury.

Enter rookie Jack Lee. In his first performance a week ago he threw touchdown passes of 78, 92 and 73 yards in the mud and goo against Denver in a 20-10 victory.

And Friday night this tall, calm young man, 22, rattled the Boston Patriots' defense with his passes and mixed his plays beautifully in a 24-10 decision that all but wrapped up the Easter Division title for the Oilers.

Houston now has a three-game lead with only three games remaining. They can't do worse than tie for the title. Boston and New York are tied for second at 5-6.

Lee completed 21 of 38 passes for 331 yards for one touchdown. And he set up two others with passes and directed a 74-yard drive that ended in a field goal. Even with that performance, Boston stayed close and trailed 14-10 going into the final period. But Blanda hobbled in to kick a 16-yard field goal and a few minutes later Lee hit Bill Groman with a 40-yard pass that carried to the 4. Two plays later Doug Cline jammed across.

The game, played before a capacity house of 27,123, was the only action in the league. Sunday Oakland (5-5) and Los Angeles (6-4) battle for the Western Division lead in Los Angeles and Buffalo (4-6) is at Denver (4-6).

Browns Slated To Beef Up Grid Defense

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns may use the strategy of frequent defensive substituting to get more pressure on the passer when they play the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis Sunday afternoon.

This was indicated by the pattern set Friday afternoon in Cleveland's final extensive drill in preparation for the game.

The plan would mean more work for Jim Marshall, Larry Stephens, Jim Prestel and possibly Dave Lloyd.

Marshall, a rookie from Ohio State, started out as a regular but had some problems with team defense. However, he is strong and fast and capable of exerting pressure on the passer. He plays right end, where Paul Wiggin is the usual starter.

Wiggin also is experienced at the other end, where Jim Houston is the regular starter.

Stephens, the understudy for Floyd Peters, and Prestel, who works behind Bob Gain, both are fast for big men. Lloyd is a substitute center and extra linebacker.

"There is not much difference in the ability of several of these players," said Coach Paul Brown. "A change of pace in style may help."

"A blocker may get used to one style and then be upset when something else is thrown against him. We've been bringing these new fellows along rather slowly. They are just about ready."

All the Browns' cripples were back at work Friday and are expected to play against the Cardinals. Guards Jim Ray Smith and Vince Costello who had been sidelined with injuries, appeared to be up to par. Halfback Ray Renfro said his injured knee felt better than it did a week ago.

The Browns will hold a brief final workout at Busch Stadium in St. Louis this afternoon.

Former CHS Stars Home for Holidays

Several former Circleville High School athletes of last year are home from various universities to enjoy the Thanksgiving holidays.

Included are Bob Shadley, Larry Hannahs, and Dave Huffer. Shadley, a first year man at Purdue University at Lafayette, Ind., has been named to the freshman cage squad there.

Hannahs is home from Iowa State University at Ames, Ia., where he played end on the Cyclones' freshman grid squad this season.

Huffer, in his first year at Ohio University, Athens, was a lineman for this year's Bobcat freshman unit.

Yankees Beef Up Their Bonus Plan

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Yankees have taken their first step in a new bonus policy designed to compete with other clubs for promising young baseball players.

The American League champions Friday paid one of their largest bonuses in signing Howard Kint, 18-year-old southpaw pitcher sought by every major league club. No sum was disclosed but the payment reportedly was in excess of $50,000.

Kitt, a Columbia University sophomore, posted a record of 40 victories and one defeat while pitching for high school, recreation and sandlot teams.

The first New York motor boat show was held in Madison Square Garden in 1905.

HAPPY HUMPHERY

Mat Action Returns to Local Coliseum

Wrestling returns to the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum starting 8:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Headlining the card will be the 750-pound Happy Humphery, said to be the world's largest man and wrestler. He will team up with the Golden Superman, the powerhouse of the ring.

The two grapplers will try their best to beat the champions from Tokyo, Japan — Oyama Kato and Taro Sakuro.

Semi event for the evening activity will be Dr. Big Bill Miller, grappling for a win over Washington D. C.'s Mighty Joe, a 300-pound mat star.

In the kickoff match, Chilli-cothe's popular Leon Graham will tangle with a dynamite of the ring, Little Billy Cox.

Local Hunters Bag 12 Deer

Several local hunting parties that forayed into the Big Bay Country of Michigan the last couple of weeks met with success as they brought home 12 deer.

Making the trip were Jim and Frank Mace, Lloyd Minor, Don Strous, Stillman Morrison, Hewitt Cromley, Harold Strawser, Harold Riffle, Tom Wells, Chet Hill, Bob Elsea, John Bell, Robin Jones and Charles Glitt.

The hunters bagged four large bucks, one spike buck, two button bucks and five does.

The largest deer was brought down by Strawser. The kill dressed out at about 180 pounds.

Several of the hunters returned last week and the remainder this week.

Haas, Pott Tied In Mobile Tourney

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—Freddie Haas and Johnny Pott, Louisiana State University golf stars of 20 years ago, shared a shaky lead today at the start of the third round in the Mobile Open tournament.

Both were pressed by Arnold Palmer, Ligonier, Pa., and Jon Gustin, Gladwyne, Pa. Gustin, tied with Haas for the lead after the first round, now has a 66-69-135.

Palmer will become pro golf's all-time money winner for one year if he can cop one of the first three prizes in the $15,000 meet. He needs $1,119.65 to pass Ted Kroll's 1956 mark of $72,835 in earnings. The top three finishers here get $2,000, $1,500 and $1,200 respectively.

Jockey Sam Boulmetis sold papers at the gates of Pimlico race track in Baltimore when he was a youngster.

The first New York motor boat show was held in Madison Square Garden in 1905.

Baylor Runs Score Average To near 46

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Where would the Los Angeles Lakers be without Elgin Baylor? They shudder to think.

In the past seven games, Baylor has scored 320 points, almost 46 a game. The Lakers have won six of their last seven.

Their streak also has kept them within sight of the St. Louis Hawks, who are leading the Western division of the National Basketball Association. The Lakers trail by 2 1/2 games.

Baylor found the range for 51 points Friday night and the Lakers whipped the Detroit Pistons, 141-128, in overtime. Baylor pulled the Lakers back from a 14-point deficit in the first period, kept them close in the second, broke a 116-116 tie in the final period and tossed in four points in a row in the overtime to settle it.

In the only other game of the night the Boston Celtics, leading the Eastern Division, edged the New York Knickerbockers 111-110 on Frank Ramsey's two free throws with 15 seconds to go.

Dietrich, Cottrill Roll High Series

John Dietrich's 561 and Bob Cottrill's 507 were high series scores in Early Wednesday league bowling at Circle D Recreation.

The 7-Up team had a 961 single game and 2,820 for the series to lead in those departments.

GRID HEROES ARE (JUST) BORN—You might call these two football heroes of the future "Muck" and "Mire" and then again you might call them John Engbretson, 11, and his brother, Jeff, 8, caught eating hot dogs after a grade school game at the Forbes Air Force base at Topeka, Kan.

Syracuse University cross-country coach Bob Grieve calls junior Joe Francello of Arlington, N. J., one of the finest distance runners he has ever coached.

Major Felix (Doc) Blanchard, former Army All - America, is on duty with the U. S. Air Force in England.

Ohio Taxman Shot in Back During Reno Court Hearing

RENO, Nev. (AP)—G. Waldron Snyder, U. S. internal revenue official from Madeira, Ohio, say he was shot by a man with the "meanest streak I ever saw."

Snyder, 50-year-old attorney, was one of two wounded. Another lawyer was killed in the wild courtroom shooting Wednesday.

Snyder referred to Bob (The Sandman) Williams, 52-year-old Reno sand and gravel pit contractor booked for murder.

In a hospital interview, Snyder said:

"I went blind after the first shot. It was funny. I hit the deck and I thought I was okay. Then I found I couldn't get up. I heard more shots. The next thing I knew I was in the hospital."

One bullet was removed from Snyder's back Thursday but another one remains.

Snyder is an assistant regional commissioner for the IRS in Cincinnati, headquarters for a five-state area. He has a wife and 10-year-old daughter in Madeira.

Snyder had flown to Reno to testify as a rebuttal witness in the suit filed by his sister, Mrs. Bob Williams, and mother-in-law, Mrs. Emma Snyder, for part of the gravel properties of Williams. His sister is Williams' estranged wife.

"Some people say he was aiming at my mother when I was hit but I don't know. My mother and sister said he had told them he was going to get me. He never told me. He's got the meanest streak I ever saw."

Snyder added that the slain attorney who had represented his sister, Eli Livierato, had obtained a permit to carry a gun two years ago because of threats from Williams.

"Williams started shooting when the judge said he was giving the parties 30 days to settle the case," Snyder said.

Sam Francovich, Williams' attorney and the man who disarmed him, said the case was far from finished when the contractor went berserk. He said he thought Williams was just angry at all the attorneys and his estranged wife and mother-in-law.

Missing Truck

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Two sheriff's deputies have decided Arizona still is a land of wide open spaces.

Edwardo L. Lonzo of Nogales was driving his truck across the desert when he ran out of gasoline. He walked to town, picked up some extra gas but couldn't find the truck again in the desolate terrain.

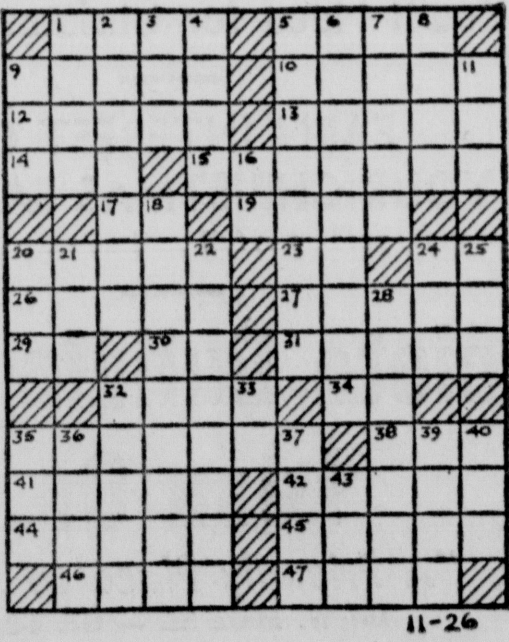

Deputy Randy Rendon spotted the truck while flying over the area. However, when he and Deputy Ken Sturgeon attempted to drive to the location, they could find the vehicle, either.

Rendon went up in the plane again and this time drew a map. After several hours of searching on foot, the deputies finally located the elusive truck.

Syracuse's 1959 freshman football team scored 110 points to 15 f their rivals in four games.

Bell, General Phones Told To File Rates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—General Telephone Co. of Ohio and Ohio Bell Telephone Co. have been instructed to file rates and maps of service areas in preparation for serving customers in parts of Washington, Monroe and Noble counties. The utilities commission issued the order Friday. The areas have been served by small mutually owned and operated telephone exchange companies which the commission decided last May are "either unable or unwilling to render reasonably adequate telephone service."

HIGH ON LIST—Fred V. Heinke, president of the Missouri Farmers Association, is reported high on the list of possible choices for secretary of agriculture in the Kennedy Cabinet. Well known in farm co-operative circles and among Farm Belt legislators in Washington, Heinke is a long-time advocate of programs to raise farm income and control production. (Central Press)

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—General Telephone Co. of Ohio and Ohio Bell Telephone Co. have been instructed to file rates and maps of service areas in preparation for serving customers in parts of Washington, Monroe and Noble counties. The utilities commission issued the order Friday. The areas have been served by small mutually owned and operated telephone exchange companies which the commission decided last May are "either unable or unwilling to render reasonably adequate telephone service."

Ohio Valley Investment Growth Cited

CINCINNATI (AP)—An educator declared here today the Ohio Valley has received seven per cent of the nation's investment in new industry and public utilities since 1950 although it has less than one per cent of the nation's land area and less than 3.5 per cent of the population.

John F. Lounsbury of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Ohio, made the report in a speech at the 46th annual meeting of the National Council for Geographic Education.

Lounsbury warned, however, that several obstacles must be overcome if the industrial growth in the valley is to be continued.

He asserted that present dam and lock facilities are such that serious congestion of river traffic now exists and he added, "It is reasonable to assume that demands on navigational facilities will double in a decade hence."

"Specific sites favorable to industry from the standpoint of topography and overland transportation are definitely limited," the speaker said.

"Development of these sites are often impeded locally by general antipathy, lack of adequate zoning, antiquated tax legislation, lack of suitable labor and forsighted labor leadership."

"It is possible that the expansion of industry will reach a plateau in the near future and another spectacular acceleration will depend upon the solution of political and financial problems, both regional and local in nature."

Abundant coal and a heavy increase in electrical generating capacity were listed as among the factors contributing to the industrial growth of the valley.

"The valley today is one of the world's major industrial complexes," Lounsbury said, "producing three times as much steel and coal as the Ruhr, more chemicals than the Rhine and more aluminum than West Germany, Italy, France and the United Kingdom combined."

Tigers Cage Unit Preps for Opener

Circleville High School's 1960-61 cage edition has been working at a fast clip the past few days in preparation for the season's opener here Friday with Wilmington.

Coach Dick Snouffer currently has 13 candidates who are battling for starting berths. The list includes five seniors, six juniors and two sophomores.

Sam Weller, a regular most of last season, is the only returning letterman which means Coach Snouffer faces a rebuilding task. However, several promising prospects are making strong bids. Included in the promising category is Bruce Barnes, a senior who is making his first try at varsity basketball. The 6-footer who has knack for jumping high, currently has been doing a good job and probably will see much action.

THE two sophomores retained on the varsity list are Gerald Dade and Cleson Thomas, both regulars with last year's reserve team. Three promising juniors with reserve experience are Dick Kline, Jim Wellington and Luther Johnson.

Coach Snouffer said his starting lineup for Friday has not been determined. He said at least seven candidates are under close scrutiny for starter assignments due to their scrap and hustle.

Snouffer termed his squad as young and lacking in height, but blessed with desire and aggressiveness. So far the cagers have played three scrimmage tests with Columbus schools, including a session yesterday with East High. Yesterday's effort probably was the best to date for the locals, Coach Snouffer said. He said marked improvement was shown.

The Coach said he has only four boys reaching the 6-foot class, with Weller and Junior John Adkins topping the list at about 6-3. Barnes also stands about six feet as does Thomas.

Here is the roster as it stands to date:

2 Debutantes Introduced in White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie and Ellen Moore are a pair of special debutantes.

They made their plunge into society at a historic White House tea Friday, sponsored by their aunt, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I'm up in a cloud," is the way dark-haired Mamie, 18, expressed her feelings afterwards. Her sister, blonde Ellen, 19, agreed.

"I thoroughly enjoyed it. Youth does something to me," said fond Aunt Mamie Eisenhower.

"We'll never forget it," added the mother of the girls, Mrs. Eisenhower's only sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore.

Mrs. Eisenhower said it was "an old-fashioned debut tea" the kind she remembered from girlhood, where old friends were invited to meet the daughters of coming out age.

Mrs. Eisenhower launched her nieces, standing in a receiving line and them and their mother in the Green Room.

The executive mansion was decked with flowers, the red-coated Marine Corps band played waltzes and show tunes, and tea tables were laden with goodies.

Cambridge Fire Loss Is Set at $250,000

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Patrol says damage was estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000 in a fire that destroyed a Kroger Co. supermarket here Friday. Cause of the fire has not been determined. Two meat cutters spotted the blaze when they reported for work, before anyone was in the store.

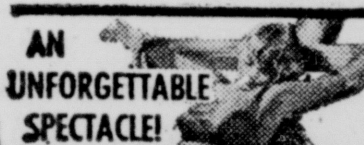

Chicago's first permanent school was built of brick and the first city offices were in a brick building.

Two DiSalle appointments to the Liquor Board, which often comes under fire, were Creed Lester of Mount Vernon as chairman at $11,000 a year and John Cianfona of Columbus at $10,000. Lester, a former municipal judge, is a Democrat and Cianfona, an attorney formerly in the state auditor's office is a Republican. The four-member board is bi-partisan.

Ohio's Pardon and Parole Commission was expanded from three to five members and their full-time salaries set at $12,000 annually. Up for confirmation are Chairman Joseph E. Doneghy of Toledo and members Harry C. Johnson of Cambridge, Miss Gloria Karpinski of Cleveland, William M. Vance of Urbana and John Pruski of Columbus. Vance and Pruski are GOP members of the two-party board.

The Racing Commission was expanded from four to five members. Reappointed were Chairman Harry Hoffheimer of Cincinnati, James White of Toledo and Garrett S. Claypool of Chillicothe. New members are James V. Sawyer of Akron and John Elder of Cleveland. White and Sawyer are Republicans on the two-party board. Members receive $2,500 a year.

Re-appointment of Richard E. Guggenheim, Cincinnati, as chairman of the new Civil Rights Commission for a five-year term will be up for confirmation. Guggenheim was re-named after serving for one year under a system of staggered terms for initial appointees who were previously confirmed. Full terms for commission members are for five years at $5,000 annually.

Tigers Cage Unit Preps for Opener

Circleville High School's 1960-61 cage edition has been working at a fast clip the past few days in preparation for the season's opener here Friday with Wilmington.

Coach Dick Snouffer currently has 13 candidates who are battling for starting berths. The list includes five seniors, six juniors and two sophomores.

Sam Weller, a regular most of last season, is the only returning letterman which means Coach Snouffer faces a rebuilding task. However, several promising prospects are making strong bids.

Included in the promising category is Bruce Barnes, a senior who is making his first try at varsity basketball. The 6-footer who has knack for jumping high, currently has been doing a good job and probably will see much action.

THE two sophomores retained on the varsity list are Gerald Dade and Cleson Thomas, both regulars with last year's reserve team. Three promising juniors with reserve experience are Dick Kline, Jim Wellington and Luther Johnson.

Coach Snouffer said his starting lineup for Friday has not been determined. He said at least seven candidates are under close scrutiny for starting assignments due to their scrap and hustle.

Snouffer termed his squad as young and lacking in height, but blessed with desire and aggressiveness. So far the cagesters have played three scrimmage tests with Columbus schools, including a session yesterday with East High.

Yesterday's effort probably was the best to date for the locals, Coach Snouffer said. He said marked improvement was shown.

The Coach said he has only four boys reaching the 6-foot class, with Weller and Junior John Adkins topping the list at about 6-3. Barnes also stands about six feet as does Thomas.

Here is the roster as it stands to date:

2 Debutantes Introduced in White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie and Ellen Moore are a pair of special debutantes.

They made their plunge into society at a historic White House tea Friday, sponsored by their aunt, Mrs. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

"I'm up in a cloud," is the way dark-haired Mamie, 18, expressed her feelings afterwards. Her sister, blonde Ellen, 19, agreed.

"I thoroughly enjoyed it. Youth does something to me," said fond Aunt Mamie Eisenhower.

"We'll never forget it," added the mother of the girls, Mrs. Eisenhower's only sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore.

Mrs. Eisenhower said it was "an old-fashioned debut tea" the kind she remembered from girlhood, where old friends were invited to meet the daughters of coming out age.

Mrs. Eisenhower launched her nieces, standing in a receiving line and them and their mother in the Green Room.

The executive mansion was decked with flowers, the red-coated Marine Corps band played waltzes and show tunes, and tea tables were laden with goodies.

Cambridge Fire Loss Is Set at $250,000

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Highway Patrol says damage was estimated at between $250,000 and $300,000 in a fire that destroyed a Kroger Co. supermarket here Friday. Cause of the fire has not been determined. Two meat cutters spotted the blaze when they reported for work, before anyone was in the store.
